Bitter War Still Takes Toll

SAIGON (AP)—Two Americans and nearly 400 North and South Vietnamese were reported killed today and Thursday in a storm of attacks across South Vietnam matched by the heaviest est American air strikes in eight months.

"The war's still on," the commander of a U.S. Marine air wing commented after the death of one of his young security guards during a rocket attack on the Bien Hoa Air Base 15 miles northeast of Saigon.

Seven and a half hours after the predawn attack at Bien Hoa, a second American serviceman was killed when his observation helicopter crashed in flames near Phan Thiet, on the coast 100 miles east of Saigon. U.S. officials said the helicopter apparently was shot down. A second crewman rescued suffered slight wounds, the U.S. Command said.

The Command also reported that 13 U.S. servicemen and 12 American civilian advisers and technicians working with the South Vietnamese air force were wounded in the rocket attack at Bien Hoa and another at the Da Nang Air Base.

The South Vietnamese command said there were 112 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong attacks during the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m., equaling the number reported during the previous 24-hour period when the United States and North Vietnam announced that fighting would stop at 8 a.m. Saigon time on Sunday, or 7 p.m. EST Saturday.

The Saigon command said in the past 24 hours 299 Communist troops and 61 of its soldiers were killed, 333 South Vietnamese soldiers were wounded and 18 were missing. This raised Vietnamese casualties on both sides reported in the two days since announcement of the cease-fire to 541 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong and 119 Saigon troops killed, 615 South Vietnamese wounded and 34 missing.

The U.S. casualties today were the first reported since the cease-fire announcement.

The U.S. Command reported that American fighter-bombers flew 407 strikes against North Vietnamese and Viet Cong positions in South Vietnam during the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today. A spokesman said it was the largest number of such strikes in South Vietnam since last May 28, at the height of the North Vietnamese offensive.

U.S. B52 bombers flew 80 strikes, the Command said, dropping about 2,400 tons of explosives.

About 75 per cent of the enemy attacks were made with artillery, rockets and mortars.

At Bien Hoa, one Vietnamese was killed and 10 were wounded. One South Vietnamese F5 fighter-bomber was destroyed and one U.S. AC119 gunship was damaged.

Several rockets crashed into a barracks housing the American civilians who were injured.

SAD NEWS — Seventeen-months-old Chad Wiehr toddles around the living room of home at Courtland, Minn., with a comb as his mother weeps in background while listening to Henry Kissinger tell of the cease-fire agreement in Vietnam. The tot's father, Rick Wiehr, Navy electronics repairman, died in a plane crash off the coast of Vietnam, two days before Kissinger's announcement.

Nixon Revamps Executive Office; Hatchet Wielded

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon proposed to Congress today that he abolish three organizations in his executive office.

In a message to the Congress, he said the action would pare 389 jobs from the executive office, with an estimated savings of $2 million in the budget.

Proposed for abolition were the Office of Emergency Preparedness, the Office of Science and Technology and the National Aeronautics and Space Council.

The space council is not to be confused with NASA, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The White House said necessary continuing functions of the three agencies should be transferred "to line departments and agencies where they can be better performed."

The Office of Science and Technology was set up in 1962 to evaluate and coordinate science and technology programs. Its work would be transferred to the director of the National Science Foundation.

As for the OEP, all responsibilities for preparing and relieving civil emergencies and disasters would be transferred to the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The General Services Administration and the Treasury Department would take over other programs.

The Space Council would simply go out of business. The White House said it helped define and develop U.S. space programs, but now "we have effective resolutions of our space and aeronautics objectives" and therefore "are able to abolish the council at this time with no transfer of its functions."

In his message to Congress Nixon said he was confident "this reorganization plan would significantly increase the overall efficiency and effectiveness of the federal government."

Bells will toll, flags will be flown and many Americans will attend special religious services Saturday as the nation takes note of the official beginning of the Vietnam cease-fire.

An eternal "flame of hope" atop a 10-foot concrete pillar will be dedicated at the Albuquerque International Airport in honor of prisoners of war and men missing or killed in Vietnam.

Saturday will be a "Special Day of Celebration and Prayer" in Lorain, Ohio, and "Paris Bells for Peace Day" in Paris, Tex., where bells will ring in the truce, which starts at 7 p.m. EST.

A parade marking the end of the war is being sponsored in Tell City, Ind., by the local American Legion post. Offerings at a "Thanksgiving" service in Midland, Mich., will be sent to rebuild Back Mai hospital in Hanoi.

At least 13 radio stations in the Philadelphia area plan to ring bells over the air for 12 minutes beginning at 7 p.m. Crawfordsville, Ind., residents have been asked to fly flags and Euclid, Ohio, residents have been urged to turn their porch lights on at 7 p.m.

The Maryland Council of Churches has urged that all churches in the state be open at 7 p.m. for those who wish to pray.

Gov. John West of South Carolina asked citizens of his state to join him in a minute of silent prayer of thanks for peace and suggested that bells be rung for five minutes.

Firehorns will sound 10 times in Rowley, Mass., and in six southeastern New Hampshire towns nearby.

The soybean crop in 1971 was worth $4,430,000 and the income from sale of corn was $3,763,000 ... Much of the corn raised in the county is fed to livestock and is not included in this figure.

many U.S. military professionals about the effectiveness of the machinery being set up to supervise the Vietnam cease-fire.

Behind them are years of frustration trying to cope with a flow of North Vietnamese infiltrators into South Vietnam.

Some officers recall there were 54 Green Beret camps spread all along the border; there were various kinds of exotic sensors and night-vision devices, and still the Americans never really could control infiltration.

The new International Control Commission, made up of Canadians, Poles, Hungarians and Indonesians, will have six teams posted at wide intervals along the hundreds of miles of South Vietnam's border with Cambodia and Laos and the Demilitarized Zone separating North and South Vietnam.

Another seven teams will be tabbed for duty at additional inland points of entry to be chosen later. Still another seven teams, which will be concerned with return of prisoners for the first 60 days of the cease-fire, could be reassigned after that time to inland border surveillance.

That would add up to a possible 20 teams, most of them numbering eight men each, to watch over a long inland border masked to a large extent by deep jungle.

The plan also calls for 26 other teams of the same size to be based throughout South Vietnam to prevent troops already in the country from violating the cease-fire.

Over-all, the international commission will number 1,160 officers and men. But about half will be at headquarters keeping records.

Supplementing the international group will be a temporary joint military commission made up of representatives of the United States, North Vietnam, the South Vietnamese and the Viet Cong.

After U.S. troops are withdrawn and all prisoners exchanged within 60 days, this four-party group will disappear and a smaller commission composed only of military men from the rival Vietnamese sides will replace it.

This joint-Vietnamese military commission, which is supposed to conduct preliminary investigations of truce violations, will also have 26 small teams spread throughout South Vietnam.

The peace agreement and its many implementing documents are silent on any enforcement authority for the international commission or the joint military commission.

Their powers are "to deter and detect violations ... to carry out necessary observations and investigations," and to be "a forum to settle differences."

Spunky Dies; Stray Canine Center Of Cruelty Incident

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Spunky, a flop-eared dog who was splashed with gasoline and set afire almost 10 years ago, is dead after a decade of human kindness and care.

Spunky once was front-page news, her suffering and painful struggle to live touching the hearts of people who read about the cruelty that she had suffered.

That was in Muncie, Ind., in 1963. She was horribly burned and near death when she was found about a week after being set afire. She was located by members of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and was soon receiving treatment in Muncie.

Someone gave her the name Spunky as she fought for life.

Meantime, a 20-year-old man charged with the act told authorities that the dog, a stray, had chased his chickens.

A Muncie City Court judge ordered the youth to be given 20 lashes with a police belt. The youth also was fined $115, given 60 days in jail with 50 days and the fine suspended. He also had to visit the dog every day and was told that if it died he would have to bury it.

But Spunky lived up to her new name. She made it, and by July 1963 was sufficiently recovered to be given a home. The William D. Comstocks, then living in the Browns Summit area near Greensboro, wanted her.

Spunky arrived in Greensboro on July 18, 1963, and was immediately placed in a veterinary hospital.

Within two weeks, she was home with the Comstocks, and her life was filled with human kindness, love and care after that.

A couple of weeks ago the Comstocks took her back to the hospital.

This time, Spunky couldn't make it.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market seemed to be heading for a fifth straight day of declines today, and the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was hovering near the 1,000-point level.

The noon Dow was off 5.79 to 998.80. Today was the first time it had fallen below 1,000 since it burst through the historic psychological barrier last November.

On the New York Stock Exchange, declining issues led gainers 913 to 385 among 1,654 issues changing hands in moderate trading. Brokers said the tripling of the U.S. trade deficit in 1972 despite the devaluation of the dollar had assumed serious proportions in investor thinking.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,400 common stocks was down 0.38 to 62.87, and the price-change index at the American Stock Exchange was off 0.06 to 25.95.

Agnew Opens Far Eastern Tour Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew will leave Sunday for South Vietnam and for visits to six other Asian countries, the White House announced today.

The purpose of the trip, said press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, is "to discuss postwar relations" and to "explain the continuing American role in Asia."

Agnew will also stress the United States' interest in "peace and self-determination for all the nations in Southeast Asia," he said.

The trip will last "something over a week," the press secretary said.

Traveling with Agnew will be staff aides of the National Security Council and members of his own staff.

Ziegler said Agnew would engage in "important substantive discussions" with the leaders of the seven countries. Besides South Vietnam they are Laos, Cambodia, Thailand, Malaysia, Singapore and Indonesia.

The order in which they will be visited was not announced, except that South Vietnam will be first.

Byrd Introduces Disclosure Bill For Employes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert Byrd today introduced a bill to require everyone on the federal payroll making more than $24,000 a year to detail their finances for the public.

The West Virginia Democrat said the bill is necessary "to eliminate the public climate of skepticism surrounding the integrity and performance of our national leaders."

Byrd cosponsored a similar measure last year. But his attempt to get the measure out of the Senate Rules Committee to the full Senate was defeated.

Byrd's bill would require a detailed, public disclosure for everyone in government paid at the comparable level of GS16 or higher. This would apply to some 66,000 employees from the Supreme Court to the Congress to the military.

get under the bed, but I was too big," said the 250-pound warehouseman from Macon, Ga., "The second blast blew me right under the bed. It was the loudest crash I ever heard. The door blew out, and the windows blew in." Moore looked at his clock radio on the floor beside him. It was 2:25 a.m. The barracks next door was a torrent of orange flames and black smoke, and he could hear people crying out in agony.

"I couldn't tell if our building was still trembling or if it was me."

Moore tripped over the luggage he had neatly piled up for the trip home to Georgia and ran outside. In the moonlight rockets were still rumbling across the cloudless sky, making a sound "like a runaway freight train, then an ear-splitting slamming crash."

One landed in front of an aircraft repair hangar, its molten white shrapnel killing a young U.S. Marine on guard duty at a concrete bunker. He may have been standing outside the bunker because the night was muggy.

A ban-the-bomb symbol was stenciled in black paint on the concrete light pole just across the road from where the 122mm rocket left a two-foot-deep crater.

Seven hours later, the green wooden barracks building where nine Air Force men and 12 American civilians were wounded by a direct hit was still smoldering.

As firemen fought the flames, Jim Moore told the story that "the boys back at the fishing camp better get used to hearing."

Many of Moore's friends were among the civilians wounded next door.

Like him, most of them were "short timers" who had come to Vietnam under three-month contracts to help assemble and catalog the supplies for the U.S. government rushed in for the Vietnamese air force before the cease-fire went into effect.

On his last night in the country, Moore and his buddy, Bill Hughes of Oklahoma City, went to see "Pretty Maids All in a Row," a mild skin flick playing at the base theater.

"We forgot to take the usual pool we make every night about what time the rockets will come banging in," Hughes recalled. "The next thing you know, I was on the floor, with my hands wrapped around my head. I thought for sure this was it."

Sheriff's Department Plans Community Service Program

Veteran Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Bill Dountz has been selected by Sheriff Dwight Radcliff to head his department's newly founded Community Service Program.

Governor John J. Gilligan and State Representative Myrl H. Shoemaker announced approval of a $19,820 grant Wednesday to initiate the program.

The grant was awarded by Dr. David Sweet, director of the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development, under the Omnibus Crime Control Act. Local matching funds will be $8,616, with $6,452 in cash and the remainder in credits.

The Community Service Program in Pickaway County will be a pilot program with eventual expansion to serve the entire Pickaway County School district on a regular basis. The size of the program in the final form would be based on the degree to which it is successful in meeting the proposed goals.

"Community relations are a problem of our time," Sheriff Radcliff said in announcing the program. "We must find a solution. The crime increase across the nation has left its impact on Pickaway County."

"The county has a population of over 40,000 and the Pickaway County School System has an enrollment of 10,375. Our community has several large industrial plants, business establishments, apartment complexes and these are all coupled with a fast-growing citizenry.

"With these characteristics, our county has experienced a terrific increase in burglaries, larcenies and various other crimes of which a great percentage are committed by juveniles.

"It is felt that a community service officer program is needed and long overdue in the county."

Goals of the program will be to open and maintain channels of communications between neighborhood organizations, schools at all levels, and the police. It will serve and act as liaison between the Sheriff's Department and various community groups.

Sheriff Radcliff feels that the program must acquaint the citizens of the county with the operation, practices and policies of the Sheriff's Department and acquaint the sheriff's department with the various problems that citizens feel they have.

Deputy Dountz, as the Community Service Officer, will assist by advising the Sheriff on policy needs and on the specific incidents which effect community relations. He will run school programs in order to develop friendly relations with students and faculty members as well as establish a positive police image.

The officer will work with civic groups by attending meetings and speaking to the groups, while at the same time listening to their grievances. He will also be responsible for police recruiting and in-service training directly effecting community relations.

Included in the federal grant is purchase of a vehicle, radio and loud speaker siren system.

Sheriff Radcliff also said it will be about 60 days before the program can be implemented.

Logan St. Home Damaged By Friday Kitchen Blaze

The Bryant Stout home at 364 Logan St. suffered smoke and fire damage Friday morning from a kitchen blaze.

A rough estimate of $2,000 was given by Circleville firemen as loss to the house and contents from the 11 a.m. fire which started in a kitchen wastebasket. Firemen say the family's young daughter was playing with matches in the kitchen and started the fire. She alerted her mother, who was in an upstairs bedroom. All were able to get out of the house without injury.

The fire spread from the wastebasket to the walls, stove, cabinets and floor. Heavy smoke was carried into other areas of the home.

At 8:22 p.m. Thursday, firemen extinguished a fire in a car at 325 Clark Drive. The auto, owned by Chris Isaac, 1018 Wilmar Drive, suffered about $75 fire loss from a backfire which ignited material under the car hood.

C5A Figure Given 'Day In Court'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The man who was fired from his Air Force cost-cutting job after testifying about a $2-billion cost overrun on a huge transport plane today gets the public hearing he has sought for nearly four years.

F. Ernest Fitzgerald's hearing before the U.S. Civil Service Commission comes after Fitzgerald appealed his 1969 dismissal through the federal courts.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., views the firing of Fitzgerald from his more than $30,000-a-year job as "reprisal" for his testimony before the congressional Joint Economic Committee in November 1969.

In that testimony, Fitzgerald said he had discovered the giant C5A transport being built by Lockheed Aircraft Corp. would cost at least $2 billion more than Lockheed's contract stipulated.

Shortly after testifying, Fitzgerald was told he no longer had career tenure, a finding the Air Force later blamed on a computer error. Fitzgerald then was transferred away from giant weapons systems. Then Fitzgerald said he found cost overruns in an Air Force bowling alley in Thailand.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market seemed to be heading for a fifth straight day of declines today, and the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was hovering near the 1,000-point level.

The noon Dow was off 5.79 to 998.80. Today was the first time it had fallen below 1,000 since it burst through the historic psychological barrier last November.

On the New York Stock Exchange, declining issues led gainers 913 to 385 among 1,654 issues changing hands in moderate trading. Brokers said the tripling of the U.S. trade deficit in 1972 despite the devaluation of the dollar had assumed serious proportions in investor thinking.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,400 common stocks was down 0.38 to 62.87, and the price-change index at the American Stock Exchange was off 0.06 to 25.95.

Death Nearly Claims Man On Last Night In Vietnam

BIEN HOA, South Vietnam (AP) — Jim Moore will never forget his last night in Vietnam. He thought it would be his last on earth.

Agnew Opens Far Eastern Tour Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew will leave Sunday for South Vietnam and for visits to six other Asian countries, the White House announced today.

The purpose of the trip, said press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, is "to discuss postwar relations" and to "explain the continuing American role in Asia."

Agnew will also stress the United States' interest in "peace and self-determination for all the nations in Southeast Asia," he said.

The trip will last "something over a week," the press secretary said.

Traveling with Agnew will be staff aides of the National Security Council and members of his own staff.

Ziegler said Agnew would engage in "important substantive discussions" with the leaders of the seven countries.

Besides South Vietnam they are Laos, Cambodia, Thailand, Malaysia, Singapore and Indonesia.

The order in which they will be visited was not announced, except that South Vietnam will be first.

Byrd Introduces Disclosure Bill For Employees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert Byrd today introduced a bill to require everyone on the federal payroll making more than $24,000 a year to detail their finances for the public.

The West Virginia Democrat said the bill is necessary "to eliminate the public climate of skepticism surrounding the integrity and performance of our national leaders."

Byrd cosponsored a similar measure last year. But his attempt to get the measure out of the Senate Rules Committee to the full Senate was defeated.

Byrd's bill would require a detailed, public disclosure for everyone in government paid at the comparable level of GS16 or higher. This would apply to some 66,000 employees from the Supreme Court to the Congress to the military.

He's A Soap Opera Widower

DEAR ABBY: You get lots of letters from "football widows." How about putting in a good word for "soap opera widowers?"

Julia and I have been married three years. I used to call her every day on my lunch hour, and on my days off we used to go around and see the sights. On workdays I'd get off at 5 p.m. and come home to a clean house, smiling wife, and a good supper. Not anymore.

For the last five months I've been coming home to a messy house, a TV dinner and wife with a tear-stained face. The reason being she watches soap operas on TV all day long.

Former City Resident Wins Athens DSA

DAVID L. LOVETT

David L. Lovett, formerly of Circleville, received the Distinguished Service Award presented by the Athens Jaycees to the city's outstanding young man.

Born in Gallipolis, Lovett graduated from Athens High School and Ohio University. He came to Circleville in 1961 with Economy Loan. He was vice president of the Circleville Jaycees.

In 1963 he was transferred to Columbus and in 1965 was made office manager of the Evansville, Ind., Economy Loan.

In 1968 he returned to Athens to manage the Logan Federal Savings and Loan. He is vice president of Logan Federal and was recently elected to the board of directors.

Lovett married the former Janet Stauffer of Williamsport. They are the parents of one son.

The distinguished service award is given to the young man between the ages of 21 to 35 who contributes the most to his family, church, community and nation. As winner of the Athens Jaycees ninth annual competition, Lovett is placed in contention for the Ohio Jaycees selection for the five outstanding young men in the state.

State Bids Sought

On Highway Projects

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Transportation Director J. Phillip Richley has announced bids will be opened Feb. 22 on road improvement projects in Portage and Greene counties.

A safety upgrading improvement project for a 12.5-mile portion of I-75 in Portage County is estimated to cost $350,000. It includes improvement of guardrails, signs, lighting and drainage facilities.

An estimated $60,000 project in Greene County includes construction of an off-street driving area on the Beaver Creek High School grounds.

The emperor penguin is nearly four feet tall and weighs 90 pounds or more.

Retiring Gradually Is The Answer

One answer to the problem of compulsory retirement seems to be gaining greater acceptance in American industry. This gradual retirement.

Under one plan, an employee who elects to work after age 65 will work 11 months the first year, 10 months the second year and so on until his decreased pay approaches his retirement income. Each year he works over retirement age increases his retirement pay because of the shorter life expectancy.

In addition to providing the employee the advantages of a better retirement income and allowing him to step into a life of leisure gradually, this system also has definite advantages to the employer.

Skilled employees, with their backgrounds of many years of experience on the job, are thus still able to provide the company valuable assistance, and the periods of absence give the employer ample time to train new employees without the lost time which inevitably follows the replacement of personnel.

A few companies have had the gradual retirement plan in effect for years, and report satisfaction with the results. This seems to be one answer to compulsory retirement which benefits both employer and employee, and at the same time erases the "not wanted" stigma from retirement.

Working Blues

In the last two years two federal task forces — one from the Labor Department and the second from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare — have found job interest dropping among American workers. The first study coined the phrase "Blue collar blues" to describe what it found in surveying job dissatisfaction.

Those blues have extended to white collars as well, according to the answers given in thousands of interviews in the HEW study. Among the interesting discoveries was the finding that meaningful work now ranks higher than pay in the job interests of many workers.

The importance of being happy at work goes beyond immediate pleasures. It involves unwelcome additions to welfare, relates to drug and alcohol abuse and generally saps the spirit of an energetic people.

Finding ways of restoring the meaning of work to those who have lost it could be one of the most challenging and rewarding problems to be solved in modern society.

Freedom Of Speech

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The address — 60 West 125th Street on New York's Manhattan Island — is smack in the middle of ethnic America. There, jammed between the Hair Do Beauty Salon, Baer's Linen Shop and Walt Frazier's liquor store, is one of those street level open-access Cable TV (CATV) studios that promise to bring "TV power" to anybody and everybody. If it works out, such hole-in-the-wall TV taping facilities, offered for free, will kill the big channel electronic monopoly for ever.

It's all on a small scale at the moment: the Teleprompter Corporation, with 50,000 cable TV subscribers in an area extending from the Riverdale section of the West Bronx down to 79th Street in upper New York City on the West Side and 86th Street on the East, with a cross-availability hookup with the 50,000 Sterling Manhattan subscribers in downtown areas, advertises "Jewish power, Irish power, Black power, Italian power and Puerto Rican power" to the ethnics who live in the neighborhood.

I had asked a question in a column about the possibility that cable TV might provide a competitive answer to those who think the government, through the Federal Communications Commission, must use intimidation (the threat of license discontinuation) to enforce the Fairness Doctrine. Now, with a visit to 60 West 125th Street, I was discovering that competition can make official intimidation both unwise and unnecessary. No Fairness Doctrine in cable TV is needed: if you have a gripe or want to make a Union Square speech or wrap yourself in the American flag, all you have to do is ask for public access taping time at a cable TV studio and you'll get it.

It's not as easy as writing a letter to the newspaper, but you can be certain that you will reach into some homes, at least. Freed from the straitjacket of limited wave lengths, cable TV can carry any number of programs. And if you can dramatize your opinion the possibility of making an impact could be large.

Who is using the Harlem public access facility at 60 West 125th Street at the moment? I looked in while a group called the Friends of Haiti, energized by a frail, intense, young woman named Jill Ives, was busy taping an anti-war program. This didn't seem to have much to do with Haiti, but it was enabling certain people to get something off their chests. Henry Pearson, the tall, pleasant-spoken manager of the studio, said he never asked for credentials or questioned motives: his taping facilities, with an expert, Brian Crawford, on hand, to teach the most effective use of the equipment, were open to Fascists, Communists, Democrats, Republicans, anarchists, libertarians, liberals, conservatives or whatever.

I could see what he meant when I looked over his booking lists. Four groups were using his Channel C on a fairly regular basis: besides the Friends of Haiti, these were the Student Struggles for Soviet Jewry, the Black Community Profile and the Cinema Forum. The Voice of the Gospel Soul told one type of story; the Homosexual Renaissance told another. A Boy Scout group — Explorer Post 417 — offered its own idea of variety. Lizallota R. Valeska, who was Miss Finland back in 1930 and is now a great-grandmother at age 69, lectured on her methods of breath control. The Lincoln Square Community Council asked for time and got it; so did NORML, the National Organization for the Reform of the Marijuana Laws, followed by an anti-drug group that wants to see marijuana buried six feet deep.

Mr. Pearson stressed the pioneering nature of his operation. He does not censor. There are no verbotens — yet — about libel or defamation of character. If any group thinks it has been libeled or misrepresented, it is free to make its own retort. Whether the freedom of cable TV public-access programs will be abused is something for the future to determine. Someone is bound to bring a court action some time, and the limits of freedom will thus be determined by precedents still to be created.

If the Left takes over cable TV, it will be the fault of the lethargic Right. If the Lesbians grab the mike and the camera too often, it will be the fault of the Straights, Squares, and Geometrics. There's a free field now and no favor. Eventually every hamlet in America could have public-access cable TV, as well as more formal local area originating shows and commentaries. Provided, of course, that people want them and are willing to pay for the cable installations.

A new world of communications could come into being if the grass roots decide that free speech is worth the effort.

Mild Weather Covers Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mild weather and moderate temperatures covered most of the nation today.

Light rain dampened areas along the West Coast and much of the region from Texas to northwest Florida and north to Kansas and Missouri.

Snow and freezing temperatures made for hazardous driving in central Texas.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 8 at Gunnison, Colo., to 75 at Key West, Fla.

Today In History

Today is Friday, Jan. 26, the 26th day of 1973. There are 339 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1942, the first American Expeditionary Force arrived in Europe in World War II. The troops were put ashore in Northern Ireland.

On this date: In 1788, Sydney, Australia, was founded as a British penal colony.

In 1837, Michigan became the 26th U.S. state.

In 1861, Louisiana seceded from the Union.

In 1880, Douglas MacArthur was born in Little Rock, Ark.

In 1952, the Sheppard's Hotel in Cairo was burned by mobs demanding that the British withdraw from the Suez.

Ten years ago: Britain refused to share the cost of developing the U.S. Polaris missile, which British submarines would use.

Five years ago: An Israeli submarine patrolling the eastern Mediterranean was reported missing about 150 miles north of Egypt.

One year ago: Roman Catholic antiwar leader, the Rev. Daniel J. Berrigan, was granted parole from federal prison.

Today's birthday: Entertainer Eartha Kitt is 45.

Thought for today: The young man who has not wept is a savage, and the old man who will not laugh is a fool — George Santayana, Spanish-born poet and philosopher, 1863-1952.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester I. Coleman, M.D.

Is there any special vitamin that can increase pep and energy?
Mr. T.I., N.Y.

Dear Mr. I.:

The answer is "no."

This is one of the most common misconceptions in modern medicine. My major reason for answering this letter is to introduce to readers a most significant survey of the health habits of the American people.

A national study released by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare showed that millions of people in America base important decisions about their health on inaccurate information.

These are some of the highlights of the study:

- 1) Three-quarters of the public studied falsely believed that vitamin pills provide more pep and energy.
- 2) Although their disorders had never been diagnosed by a physician, 12 per cent of those interviewed reported that they had arthritis or rheumatism, asthma, allergies, hemorrhoids, heart trouble, high blood pressure or diabetes.
- 3) 12 per cent would often medicate themselves without seeing a doctor for longer than two weeks for such ailments as sore throats, coughs, sleeplessness or upset stomachs.
- 4) 26 per cent used expensive nutritional supplements without a physician's advice.
- 5) 2 per cent indicated that they "did something" every day or nearly every day to help with bowel movements and that they were not following a physician's advice in this matter.
- 6) Older people are less likely than younger people to make irrational decisions on health problems and are more skeptical about the claims for "drug store remedies."

This remarkable study was undertaken by HEW in an effort to learn how consumers were being victimized by frauds and misrepresentations.

More intensive campaigns will now be directed to undermining questionable health beliefs, fads and quackery.

What do we learn from this extensive study of millions of Americans?

We learn that the family physician is the bulwark of support for medical and psychological problems. We learn that his judgment can keep his patients from the unconscionable exploitation by mythical cures for cancer, for arthritis, for high blood pressure, psoriasis, deafness, for liver disease, for virtually every condition man is heir to.

An important axiom that must be indelibly imprinted in the minds of all readers is that scientific truth is known to doctors everywhere. Beware of the person who has his "own special private discovery," whether he has a degree after his name or not.

When once a fracture heals, is the bone as strong as it was before?
Miss E.N., Ill.

Dear Miss N.:

When once bones "knit," they are usually as firm and strong as they were before the injury.

It must be remembered, however, that the muscles and tendons are not so strong as they were and need extra time to return to complete health.

Editions Of The Past

JANUARY 1963
10 YEARS AGO

John Skinner, Route 2, Williamsport, received the "Outstanding Young Farmer" award presented annually by the Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Two Chillicothe men were fined a total of $700 and received jail sentences totaling 240 days in Circleville Municipal Court for stealing $30 worth of scrap copper from the DuPont plant salvage area.

Bacon and sausage were both selling for three-pounds for 99 cents and T-Bone steak was 89 cents per pound in local food markets.

The Circleville Board of Education announced that the firm of Kellam and Foley Architects, Columbus, had been retained for the purpose of conducting long-range planning of building needs for city schools. Projected enrollment figures indicated needs would become critical by 1965 and action was needed at once.

Area residents began to shiver as cold arctic air struck the county with temperatures of minus-two degrees being recorded.

Judge William D. Radcliff, of the Fourth District Court of Appeals, resigned his judgeship to accept a position on the staff of Attorney General William Saxbe.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is a haunted house.

But it is a friendly house. Yesterday's voices echo in the rooms, cheerfully retelling the good news of yesterday. Yesterday's people walk up its stairs, exchanging hellos and talking of things that happened long ago, and warming their hands by the glow of vanished fires on the dusty old hearth.

Some think of it as a strange and eerie place, this haunted house of memory, and perhaps it is wise not to dwell therein too long or visit too often. But few who go in there and stay a while emerge without feeling more refreshed and somewhat less lonely than before.

And all who live must spend part of their lives in that house.

There is probably quite a bit of traffic in your own house of memory if you can look back and remember when:

Most people were kind of glad to have dandelions in their lawn. They made the spring seem more cheerful.

There was always one tightwad old uncle in the family, and when you and poor folks sometimes dropped by his house on a Sunday afternoon to cheer him up when he was feeling low, he'd pour a single small round of drinks for all — then put the bottle back in the closet for good. Only an act of God could make him pour a second round — and God never acted.

Maurice Chevalier, fresh from Paris with his bow tie, easy smile and jaunty straw hat, brightened the American theatrical scene. He made us think and feel that all Frenchmen were that way — full-spirited, happy and affable.

A juvenile delinquent was a kid who picked a second scab off a skinned knee after his mother had told him not to pick it off the first time.

Whatever you ran out of in your own house, you knew you could always run next door and borrow a cup of it from a neighbor lady. The exception was gin.

The musical instruments of choice among boys were the saxophone and the drums. Whoever heard of anybody wanting to play the guitar? The banjo? Si. The guitar? Never.

There was one thing that would always draw a crowd anywhere in America — a dog fight. And you could usually see one at least every other week while simply going about your business.

Pleasures were more innocent. Every member of the family was home most nights, and all had fun simply making fudge in the kitchen or toasting marshmallows in the fireplace.

Those were the days — remember?

Lab Interested In Abnormal Fish

MONTAUK, N.Y. (AP) — If you catch an ocean fish with missing fins or an abnormal head, don't throw it away; call or write the New York Ocean Science Laboratory here.

Scientists want to know why more and more abnormal fish are being reported, and they want sports and commercial fishermen to help.

"If it is not possible to save the specimen, or the fisherman is out of the Long Island area, we would like a photo of the fish, arranged alongside a ruler or yardstick, and data as to the date, method of capture, location and comments," said Dr. Herbert M. Austin.

Austin said, "There are many types of abnormalities, but the most common and easily detected are pugeheadedness, wavy backs and anomalies of the fins, such as reduced or additional number of fin rays, shortened or stubby rays, partial or complete loss of the pelvic complex and missing fins."

Working Blues

In the last two years two federal task forces — one from the Labor Department and the second from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare — have found job interest dropping among American workers. The first study coined the phrase "Blue collar blues" to describe what it found in surveying job dissatisfaction.

Those blues have extended to white collars as well, according to the answers given in thousands of interviews in the HEW study. Among the interesting discoveries was the finding that meaningful work now ranks higher than pay in the job interests of many workers.

The importance of being happy at work goes beyond

immediate pleasures. It involves unwelcome additions to welfare, relates to drug and alcohol abuse and generally saps the spirit of an energetic people.

Finding ways of restoring the meaning of work to those who have lost it could be one of the most challenging and rewarding problems to be solved in modern society.

Freedom Of Speech

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The address — 60 West 125th Street on New York's Manhattan Island — is smack in the middle of ethnic America. There, jammed between the Hair Do Beauty Salon, Baer's Linen Shop and Walt Frazier's liquor store, is one of those street level open-access Cable TV (CATV) studios that promise to bring "TV power" to anybody and everybody. If it works out, such hole-in-the-wall TV taping facilities, offered for free, will kill the big channel electronic monopoly for ever.

It's all on a small scale at the moment: the Teleprompter Corporation, with 50,000 cable TV subscribers in an area extending from the Riverdale section of the West Bronx down to 79th Street in upper New York City on the West Side and 86th Street on the East, with a cross-availability hookup with the 50,000 Sterling Manhattan subscribers in downtown areas, advertises "Jewish power, Irish power, Black power, Italian power and Puerto Rican power" to the ethnics who live in the neighborhood.

I had asked a question in a column about the possibility that cable TV might provide a competitive answer to those who think the government, through the Federal Communications Commission, must use intimidation (the threat of license discontinuation) to enforce the Fairness Doctrine. Now, with a visit to 60 West 125th Street, I was discovering that competition can make official intimidation both unwise and unnecessary. No Fairness Doctrine in cable TV is needed: if you have a gripe or want to make a Union Square speech or wrap yourself in the American flag, all you have to do is to ask for public access taping time at a cable TV studio and you'll get it.

It's not as easy as writing a letter to the newspaper, but you can be certain that you will reach into some homes, at least. Freed from the straitjacket of limited wave lengths, cable TV can carry any number of programs. And if you can dramatize your opinion the possibility of making an impact could be large.

Who is using the Harlem public access facility at 60 West 125th Street at the moment? I looked in while a group called the Friends of Haiti, energized by a frail, intense, young woman named Jill Ives, was busy taping an anti-war program. This didn't seem to have much to do with Haiti, but it was enabling certain people to get something off their chests. Henry Pearson, the tall, pleasant-spoken manager of the studio, said he never asked for credentials or questioned motives: his taping facilities, with an expert, Brian Crawford, on hand, to teach the most effective use of the equipment, were open to Fascists, Communists, Democrats, Republicans, anarchists, libertarians, liberals, conservatives or whatever.

I could see what he meant when I looked over his booking lists. Four groups were using his Channel C on a fairly regular basis: besides the Friends of Haiti, these were the Student Struggles for Soviet Jewry, the Black Community Profile and the Cinema Forum. The Voice of the Gospel Soul told one type of story; the Homosexual Renaissance told another. A Boy Scout group — Explorer Post 417 — offered its own idea of variety. Lizallora R. Valeska, who was Miss Finland back in 1930 and is now a great-grandmother at age 69, lectured on her methods of breath control. The Lincoln Square Community Council asked for time and got it; so did NORML, the National Organization for the Reform of the Marijuana Laws, followed by an anti-drug group that wants to see marijuana buried six feet deep.

Mr. Pearson stressed the pioneering nature of his operation. He does not censor. There are no verbotens — yet — about libel or defamation of character. If any group thinks it has been libeled or misrepresented, it is free to make its own retort. Whether the freedom of cable TV public-access programs will be abused is something for the future to determine. Someone is bound to bring a court action some time, and the limits of freedom will thus be determined by precedents still to be created.

If the Left takes over cable TV, it will be the fault of the lethargic Right. If the Lesbians grab the mike and the camera too often, it will be the fault of the Straights, Squares, and Geometrics. There's a free field now and no favor. Eventually every hamlet in America could have public-access cable TV, as well as more formal local area originating shows and commentary. Provided, of course, that people want them and are willing to pay for the cable installations.

A new world of communications could come into being if the grass roots decide that free speech is worth the effort.

Mild Weather Covers Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mild weather and moderate temperatures covered most of the nation today.

Light rain dampened areas along the West Coast and much of the region from Texas to northwest Florida and north to Kansas and Missouri.

Snow and freezing temperatures made for hazardous driving in central Texas.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 8 at Gunnison, Colo., to 75 at Key West, Fla.

Two Chillicothe men were fined a total of $700 and received jail sentences totaling 240 days in Circleville Municipal Court for stealing $30 worth of scrap copper from the DuPont plant salvage area.

Bacon and sausage were both selling for three-pounds for 99 cents and T-Bone steak was 89 cents per pound in local food markets.

The Circleville Board of Education announced that the firm of Kellam and Foley Architects, Columbus, had been retained for the purpose of conducting long-range planning of building needs for city schools. Projected enrollment figures indicated needs would become critical by 1965 and action was needed at once.

Area residents began to shiver as cold arctic air struck the county with temperatures of minus-two degrees being recorded.

Judge William D. Radcliff, of the Fourth District Court of Appeals, resigned his judgeship to accept a position on the staff of Attorney General William Saxbe.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is a haunted house.

But it is a friendly house. Yesterday's voices echo in the rooms, cheerfully retelling the good news of yesterday. Yesterday's people walk up its stairs, exchanging hellos and talking of things that happened long ago, and warming their hands by the glow of vanished fires on the dusty old hearth.

Some think of it as a strange and eerie place, this haunted house of memory, and perhaps it is wise not to dwell therein too long or visit too often. But few who go in there and stay a while emerge without feeling more refreshed and somewhat less lonely than before.

And all who live must spend part of their lives in that house.

There is probably quite a bit of traffic in your own house of memory if you can look back and remember when:

Most people were kind of glad to have dandelions in their lawn. They made the spring seem more cheerful.

There was always one tightwad old uncle in the family, and when you and poor folks sometimes dropped by his house on a Sunday afternoon to cheer him up when he was feeling low, he'd pour a single small round of drinks for all — then put the bottle back in the closet for good. Only an act of God could make him pour a second round — and God never acted.

Maurice Chevalier, fresh from Paris with his bow tie, easy smile and jaunty straw hat, brightened the American theatrical scene. He made us think and feel that all Frenchmen were that way — full-spirited, happy and affable.

A juvenile delinquent was a kid who picked a second scab off a skinned knee after his mother had told him not to pick it off the first time.

Whatever you ran out of in your own house, you knew you could always run next door and borrow a cup of it from a neighbor lady. The exception was gin.

The musical instruments of choice among boys were the saxophone and the drums. Whoever heard of anybody wanting to play the guitar? The banjo? Si. The guitar? Never.

There was one thing that would always draw a crowd anywhere in America — a dog fight. And you could usually see one at least every other week while simply going about your business.

Pleasures were more innocent. Every member of the family was home most nights, and all had fun simply making fudge in the kitchen or toasting marshmallows in the fireplace.

Those were the days — remember?

Lab Interested In Abnormal Fish

MONTAUK, N.Y. (AP) — If you catch an ocean fish with missing fins or an abnormal head, don't throw it away; call or write the New York Ocean Science Laboratory here.

Scientists want to know why more and more abnormal fish are being reported, and they want sports and commercial fishermen to help.

"If it is not possible to save the specimen, or the fisherman is out of the Long Island area, we would like a photo of the fish, arranged alongside a ruler or yardstick, and data as to the date, method of capture, location and comments," said Dr. Herbert M. Austin.

Austin said, "There are many types of abnormalities, but the most common and easily detected are pugnatedness, wavy backs and anomalies of the fins, such as reduced or additional number of fin rays, shortened or stubby rays, partial or complete loss of the pelvic complex and missing fins."

State Investigation Of Energy Crisis Sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A freshman member of the Ohio General Assembly wants a legislative study of the energy crisis and its potential effects on Ohio and the Ohio citizen.

Rep. Thomas Carney, D-71 Youngstown, Wednesday introduced a resolution that asks the Legislative Service Commission to make the study and report its findings by January, 1975.

"The continuing depletion of our energy sources and the lag of discovery of new, clean, reliable energy sources will constitute what some already have called the most serious national problem," Carney's resolution noted. It was sent to a committee for later possible assignment to a vote of the full House.

The House and Senate received 21 new bills before adjourning for observance of today's national day of mourning for President Lyndon Johnson.

Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, said a House vote is likely Feb. 1 on at least two constitutional amendments slated to go before voters in the May primary. One authorizes payment of bonuses up to $500 for Vietnam and other veterans discharged since 1961. The other permits Ohio's governor and lieutenant governor to run as a team.

Lancione noted that the legislature faces a deadline of Feb. 26 in getting ballot proposals certified for the May ballot. "We've got to get these resolutions moving, they still have to go through the Senate," the speaker said. The legislature had a package of amendments ruled off last May's ballot because it failed to meet the 60-day certification deadline.

Lawmakers plan abbreviated sessions next week as a result of a seminar they will attend here with members of the governor's cabinet and other state officials. No Senate sessions will be held, but Lancione said the House will meet Thursday (Feb. 1) "to consider these resolutions."

In other developments, Robert O'Shaughnessy, a Columbus Democrat, was sworn into the 15th District Senate seat to succeed his brother, Sen. Jerry O'Shaughnessy, who died Dec. 15. The appointment was made by the Senate Democratic caucus.

Among nine new bills received in the Senate was a proposal for a pay increase of 48 cents an hour for 53,000 state employees which would cost an estimated $100 million in the next two years. The bill was drafted by the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association. Its cost compares with about $48 million the administration says is available for state employee pay raises in the upcoming biennium.

Other proposed new laws, offered in the House, would establish tenants' rights with landlords, create a state public defender's office, and make policemen who suffer heart and lung diseases eligible for workmen's compensation. Rep. John Wargo, D-2 Lisbon, proposed extending House members' terms from two to four years and making state legislators eligible for expenses.

Brown To Break Tie On Registration Plan

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Secretary of State Ted Brown will cast the tie-breaking vote on a controversial registration plan submitted Thursday to the Hamilton County Board of Elections.

The board split 2-2 along party lines with Democrats favoring a plan submitted by the League of Women Voters. The plan calls for regional and mobile registration points to be open in the evenings for 12 days in September prior to a November election.

The Republicans favor a one day registration program at all precincts.

Wives, Families Of POWs Prepare For Homecoming

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — With peace in Vietnam finally at hand, Navy wives awaiting further word on the return of their prisoner husbands are marking time in different ways.

Some are reading a booklet called "In Brief for the POW — A Catchup on News from Missing Years."

One had a sign on her front lawn for more than 2,000 days proclaiming that her husband was a prisoner of war. She took it down when the bombing of North Vietnam resumed.

A child who doesn't remember her father is planning to bury her POW bracelet in the backyard.

Some have painted their homes. Others are cleaning house.

"I've gone to mass often, but this time I went to say thank you, instead of to beg," said Pat Fellowes, whose husband, Cmdr. John H. Fellowes, has been a prisoner since 1966.

"I'm afraid that I must be all puffed-faced this morning, after smiling all night in my sleep," said the attractive red-haired mother of four.

When Lt. Cmdr. Mike Christian of Huntsville, Ala., was shot down in April 1967, his youngest daughter, Pam, was a toddler.

Today, Pam is almost eight and she says of the metal POW bracelet she wears bearing her father's name:

"I'm going to take off my bracelet and bury it in the backyard. And when my Daddy comes home, I'm going to dig it up and show it to him. Then I'll bury it again and forget about it."

Two years ago when auburn-haired Charlotte Christian moved with her three girls into their first home, she noticed how out of style her husband's civilian clothes were.

"I was looking at them in the closet again," she said Wednesday. "The pleats, the cuffs he's been gone so long, they're coming back in style."

School Pact Given OK In Chicago

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHICAGO (AP) — It was back to the blackboard today for Chicago's 21,000 public school teachers who have ended an 11-day strike, the longest in the city's history.

Members of the Chicago Teachers Union ratified a new contract Thursday night, gaining major concessions from the Board of Education on wages, class size, additional preparation time and a shorter work year.

The vote was 8,145 in favor of the school board offer to 1,012 against.

The walkout, which began Jan. 10, had idled 660 schools and kept 550,000 pupils out of classes.

But in two other major U.S. cities, teacher strikes dragged on.

In Philadelphia, the 15th day of a walkout by 13,000 public school teachers continued to curtail classes for 285,000 children in 280 schools. And in St. Louis, a strike by 3,000 teachers went into its fifth day.

The new Chicago contract provides a 2½ per cent wage increase retroactive to Jan. 1, reduces the school year from 40 weeks to 39 with no loss in pay, cuts class sizes and sets guidelines for preparation periods twice weekly for elementary instructors.

Ford Engines Gain Approval

DETROIT (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency has told the Ford Motor Co. it can sell more than 9,000 Mavericks and Comets, in storage since last May, because final pollution tests on the cars' engines show they meet 1973 standards.

The company was forced to retest the engines, after employees performed unauthorized maintenance on them. The engines were the last in the 1973 model line to receive government certification.

The engines on the 9,147 cars will need minor adjustments to the distributor, the carburetor and the timing to meet the standards, the company said.

An additional 19,000 of the 200-cubic-inch, six-cylinder engines not yet installed will require fewer modifications.

The head of the EPA's auto emissions office said Ford's report on the tests was received Jan. 19 and approved Tuesday. Ford said production of the cars with the engines will resume Feb. 14, two days after modifications on the stored autos are complete and they have been shipped to dealers.

Israel Absorbs Immigrants

TEL AVIV (AP) — By the end of 1972, 225,000 immigrants had arrived in Israel since the 1967 Six Day War, says the Ministry of Immigrant Absorption.

About 75 per cent of the immigrants are from Europe and the Americas, with the balance coming from Asia and Africa.

Although immigration from the West declined the past year, immigration from the Soviet Union has increased and now about 70,000 applications for immigration here are awaiting action by Soviet officials, the Israelis said.

Four main centers of world Jewry still remain outside Israel: the United States and Canada, 6 million; Western Europe, 1.25 million; Latin America, 1 million; and the Soviet Union, 3 million.

Watergate Trial Moves Speedily

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government presents the last of its witnesses today in the Watergate trial, which may be headed for a much earlier conclusion than had been expected when it began Jan. 8.

With the possible exception of one more witness Monday, prosecutor Earl J. Silbert Jr. said he hoped to wind up the government's case today.

The trial was recessed Thursday because of former President Lyndon B. Johnson's funeral, but U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica told the jury Wednesday that it could expect to receive the case by the end of next week or early the following week.

When the trial opened, some estimates were that it would take several months. But only two persons remain as defendants in the case stemming from the break-in and bugging of Democratic national headquarters last June 17.

The two are G. Gordon Liddy, counsel to the Finance Committee to Re-elect the President, and James W. McCord Jr., who was security chief for President Nixon's campaign.

E. Howard Hunt, a former White House consultant, pleaded guilty early in the trial. And four Miami men, who were arrested with McCord during the break-in in the Watergate complex, pleaded guilty shortly after Hunt. The defendants were charged variously with conspiracy, burglary and illegal wiretapping.

Ford Engines Gain Approval

DETROIT (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency has told the Ford Motor Co. it can sell more than 9,000 Mavericks and Comets, in storage since last May, because final pollution tests on the cars' engines show they meet 1973 standards.

The company was forced to retest the engines, after employees performed unauthorized maintenance on them. The engines were the last in the 1973 model line to receive government certification.

The engines on the 9,147 cars will need minor adjustments to the distributor, the carburetor and the timing to meet the standards, the company said.

An additional 19,000 of the 200-cubic-inch, six-cylinder engines not yet installed will require fewer modifications.

The head of the EPA's auto emissions office said Ford's report on the tests was received Jan. 19 and approved Tuesday. Ford said production of the cars with the engines will resume Feb. 14, two days after modifications on the stored autos are complete and they have been shipped to dealers.

Israel Absorbs Immigrants

TEL AVIV (AP) — By the end of 1972, 225,000 immigrants had arrived in Israel since the 1967 Six Day War, says the Ministry of Immigrant Absorption.

About 75 per cent of the immigrants are from Europe and the Americas, with the balance coming from Asia and Africa.

Although immigration from the West declined the past year, immigration from the Soviet Union has increased and now about 70,000 applications for immigration here are awaiting action by Soviet officials, the Israelis said.

Four main centers of world Jewry still remain outside Israel: the United States and Canada, 6 million; Western Europe, 1.25 million; Latin America, 1 million, and the Soviet Union, 3 million.

Legion Auxiliary Slates Mid-Winter Conference

Discussion was held concerning the Mid-Winter Conference during the Monday evening meeting of Unit 134 American Legion Auxiliary in the Post Home. Mrs. Betty Woods, president, presided over the business session opened by Mrs. Robert Stephens, chaplain, with prayer.

It was announced that the conference will be held Jan. 26th and 27th at the Neil House Motor Hotel in Columbus. Mrs. T. G. Chilton, national president of the auxiliary, of Superior, Ariz., will be the distinguished speaker at the National President's Banquet and Ball beginning 7:30 p.m. on Saturday. Mrs. Donald G. Miller, Ohio Department President, has planned an outstanding program. Galen J. Houser, Department of Ohio Commander of the American Legion will speak on Saturday.

Poppies were ordered for the annual Poppy Day held each year in May by the auxiliary to raise funds to carry out programs of the veterans affairs and rehabilitation, and children and youth activities.

Mrs. Bess Simison, rehabilitation chairman, reported serving 24 patients at the Christmas party in December for patients of Ward 211C, Chillicothe Veterans Administration Hospital. During the January visit 24 patients were served cake, ice cream, punch and cheese curls.

Mrs. Herbert Stinson, children and youth chairman, reported giving six baskets to disabled veteran's families at Christmas. The Post assisted in this project. Clothing needs are still being met. Mrs. Charles Moss of the auxiliary, assisted the Post with its annual children's Christmas party.

Mrs. Stenobe Stonerock, membership chairman, reported 210 paid members. She gave the final report on the recent candy sale. Mrs. Charles Caudill reported sending four get-well cards and one of sympathy. A cash donation to the Heart Fund was made in memory of a recently deceased member, Mrs. Arthur Sherman. Mrs. Woods conducted a memorial service assisted by the chaplain and the unit charter was draped.

Used eye glasses will be collected by the Unit and given to the Lions Club for the project "New Eyes For The Needy." Mrs. Forrest Hoffman, Americanism chairman, told about Buckeye Girls State and the Unit decided to send one girl from the junior class of Circleville High School.

A note of thanks was read from Mrs. Frank Webbe who was recently presented a gold life membership card. She has served the auxiliary faithfully for over 40 years and seldom missed the monthly trip to Chillicothe Veterans Hospital.

Mrs. Carolyn Lagore was elected first vice president and will be installed in February.

Mrs. Stephens closed the meeting with a prayer for peace and invited members to the refreshment table.

Girl Scout Troop Attends Camp-In

Girl Scout Troop 625 from Laurelville attended the Camp-In at the Center of Science and Industry in Columbus on Jan. 20 and 21. This is the second year the troop has attended the Camp-In, and the different displays and films were enjoyed by the girls.

Girls attending were: Stephanie Summers, Toni Redman, Kendra Redman, Janet Newman, Patty Meuller, Cheryl Hartranft, Cheryl Gabriel, Michele Ebert, Darcy Ebert, Melissa Barton, Julie Beglin and Debbie Ackley. Adults accompanying them were Mrs. Sam Ebert, leader, and Mrs. Tom Ebert, assistant leader.

The troop has now received word that they have been accepted for summer camping, which will be in June at Beckoning Trails near Logan, Ohio.

LEAH KAY HILDENBRAND

Summer Wedding Planned By Couple

Mr. and Mrs. J Richard Hildenbrand, Route 4, announce the engagement of their daughter, Leah Kay, to Gary Alan Robbins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Robbins, 125 Town St.

Miss Hildenbrand is currently a senior at Logan Elm High School. Her fiancé, a 1971 graduate of Circleville High School, is employed by Circleville Mobile Homes.

A summer wedding is being planned.

Fibber McGee Comes Out Of Retirement

NEW YORK (AP) — Fibber McGee came out of retirement at a press conference held by Johnson Wax, which had sponsored "Fibber McGee and Molly" on radio throughout its existence, 1935-52. Fibber will do commercials for the company.

Fibber McGee, whose name is Jim Jordan, and Throckmorton P. Gildersleeve, whose real name is Hal Perry, did a skit for reporters and 18 actors and actresses from radio days. Manny Segal, who did sound effects for the show when it started at the Merchandise Mart in Chicago, did sound effects.

A representative from the city government gave Fibber McGee a key to the city and Fibber gave him a key to his closet. Somebody announced that Fibber is now 78. "Hold the phone!" interrupted Fibber McGee. He insisted that the truth is 76.

Acupuncture OK'd By Oregon Official

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — Acupuncture may be practiced in Oregon by licensed physicians and persons licensed in other healing arts, including dentistry and podiatry, Atty. Gen. Lee Johnson has ruled.

Johnson said a chiropractic or naturopathic physician may use acupuncture for anesthetic purposes for minor surgery but not for treatment.

Acupuncture is a method of relieving pain and treating certain ailments by inserting needles into the body at specified points.

Nostalgia Craze Gets Boost In New Spring Fashions

ROME (AP) — Valentino is giving the nostalgia craze a boost, stressing the romantic, feminine look in his spring/summer collections.

Pants bowed out and skirts curtsied in. Miniskirts — remember them? — are out.

The Valentino showing Thursday ended five days of Italian high fashion presentations for the 1973 season. Designers didn't agree on everything during their showings, but one message was clear. They are aiming at women who like looking like women.

Valentino's mood was flowery. He borrowed the flowersprigged prints of grandmother's nightie for a series of after-dark dresses.

Pink violets and roses showed up on full-skirted, ruffled evening gorges, usually cut high in the bodice. More blossoms cascaded down the flowing sleeves, and a flower nose-gay nestled at the shoulder or waist.

Valentino's new spring colors are apple green and pale lilac. But he didn't forget his favorite white and beige, which dominated the daytime collection.

Combined in checks, they were used in a raw silk trench coat that had a shirttail hem. The companion suit featured a belted jacket, also shirt-tailed, and a moderately flaring skirt. Valentino's daytime skirts barely clear the knee.

Seven-eights coats, in white or beige, were belted and had set-in sleeves.

Severe little white wool dresses got a feminine touch from drawwork on the bodice. Their cardigan jackets were in a herringbone pattern knit.

Two women designers, Irene Galitzine and Mila Schoen, put pants high in their offerings but kept things on a feminine plane.

Mila Schoen's pants were wide and cuffed, ankle-length and of linen for beach wear. Her skirts sailed above the knee.

Irene Galitzine's woman is really feminine and her colors of beige, blue-green and peach are classic.

Another designer, Ognibene-Zendman, made no bones about nostalgia. Her clothes recall the woman of the 30s. Dresses are loosely belted just below the natural waist with wrist-length or elbow-length sleeves.

Thomas A. Edison In Hall Of Fame

WEST ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — Thomas Alva Edison, whose library and laboratory here are maintained as national historic sites, has been inducted as the first member of the National Inventors Hall of Fame.

The National Council of Patent Law Associations made the announcement Wednesday during ceremonies attended by Madeleine Edison Sloane, the 84-year-old widowed daughter of the famed inventor.

"He wasn't afraid of hard work," Mrs. Sloane recalled. "I remember the times when he used to call my mother and ask her to send down his dinner to the library."

Abortion Ruling Said Sensitive Experience

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (AP) — Justice Harry A. Blackmun says the period during which the U.S. Supreme Court developed its opinion on a Texas abortion law was one of the most sensitive times "in my judicial experience."

Blackmun wrote the opinion issued on Monday which struck down the Texas statute, ruling that the decision on whether to have an abortion is solely that of a woman and her physician during the first six months of pregnancy.

Never remove angel food cake from its pan before the cake is cool; to do so is to injure the cell structure and encourage shrinkage.

Agriculture, Electronics

Scholarships Are Offered

Two companies have announced offers of scholarships—one to 1973 high school graduates seeking careers in electronics and one for college juniors and seniors completing agriculture undergraduate studies.

Ohio Institute of Technology, 1350 Alum Creek Drive, Columbus, will award over $28,000 in its annual scholarship program. Five students will receive grants—each valued at approximately $5,600—to cover tuition and fees for Ohio Tech's 12-quarter electronics technology program.

Ohio Tech graduates are awarded a bachelor's degree in Electronics Engineering Technology.

Scholarship winners will be determined on the basis of an aptitude exam given on March 3. Students may take the exam at Ohio Tech, or at their high school under the supervision of a faculty member. Applicants should be graduating high school in 1973 with credits for one year each of algebra and science.

The final date for submitting applications is Feb. 17.

Ohio Institute of Technology is one of the nationwide network of Bell and Howell Schools. For further information about Ohio Tech's scholarship program, call Roland Malka, Director of Admissions, at 253-7291.

For incoming junior or senior students at 65 state universities and land grant colleges, Purina is offering $500 scholarships to students in agriculture studies.

For its award, the student selected is recommended by a scholarship committee consisting of faculty members of the college. Letters are now being sent to all the eligible colleges offering the 1973-74 scholarships.

The recipient is chosen on the basis of scholastic record, participation in campus affairs and eligibility for financial assistance. He must be a student majoring in Agriculture Engineering, Food Science, Ag Marketing or another related field.

Correspondence and recommendations should be addressed to George H. Kald, Public Relations Director, Rydston Purina Co., Checkerboard Square Plaza, St. Louis, Mo.

Work Crews Prepare Way For Peace-Keeping Force

SAIGON (AP) — Work crews ripped open sandbags and tore down bunkers at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Airport today, turning Air Force and Navy offices into headquarters for the four-nation peacekeeping force that will supervise the Vietnam cease-fire.

Less than a mile away, other crews prepared two-story green wooden barracks that once housed Air Force men for use by personnel of the International Commission of Control and Supervision.

An Army MP stood guard just inside the barbed wire fence ringing the peacekeeping team's new quarters between the main Air Force PX and the base's Mexican restaurant. While he was telling a newsmen the area was "restricted and classified," an Army truck with clean sheets drove inside.

The cease-fire agreement goes into effect at 8 a.m. Sunday — 7 p.m. EST Saturday. The four countries in the truce force — Canada, Poland, Hungary and Indonesia — are to send at least 70 men each in less than 48 hours.

The remainder of the 290 men from each country will arrive between Feb. 11 and 26. They will be stationed at various points in South Vietnam to report cease-fire violations back to the single-story headquarters offices near the Red Cross building at Tan Son Nhut.

Painters and garbage collectors also were at work sprucing up the headquarters.

American helicopters that once fired rockets and bullets on Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops were also being transformed into carriers for the commission and the military commission of U.S., Viet Cong and North and South Vietnamese members charged with implementing the cease-fire.

The U.S. helicopters will be available until March 28, the deadline for withdrawal of all American military personnel from South Vietnam.

$97,000 Bridge Unstable, Unwanted In Lorain County

AMHERST, Ohio (AP)—A $97,000 bridge erected by the State Department of Transportation seven years ago in this Lorain County community has never been used by an automobile.

Amherst's "bridge to nowhere" can't be used because it has no paved approaches. Mud stretches for hundreds of feet at each end, and the community is unwilling to spend the $85,000 available in state funds to build the approaches to the bridge over Ohio 2.

Mayor Anthony J. DePaola says he'd just as soon the state tore it down.

"This is our famous bridge to nowhere," he said. "My personal opinion is that the state should eliminate it right now...."

"It was a poor place to put a bridge. This is a new residential section. It should have been put up a mile west at Oak Point Drive, where traffic has to cross the highway at grade level and where something else will have to be done about safety before this highway becomes 190."

The mayor said there have been 34 serious accidents at the Oak Point crossover since 1966, with 19 persons injured and one killed.

He said a previous administration may have asked the state to put the bridge at its present location, presumably to link two segments of Terra Lane, but called it "a blunder that doesn't make any sense."

"The state spent a great amount of money on this bridge and the sad part about it is that I don't believe the people ever wanted it. They certainly don't need it there," DePaola said.

He said part of the cost of building the approaches would have to be assessed to property owners on each side of the bridge who, he said, didn't want the bridge in the first place.

Peru May Buy Arms From Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—High level Peruvian military delegations have visited Moscow and Havana in recent months, considering the possibility of purchasing Soviet military equipment, including MIG21s, U.S. officials say.

The sources said they know of no commitment by Peru's military government to buy any Soviet armaments.

No Latin American country except Cuba has accepted military equipment in large quantities from the Soviet Union. But in December it was reported that the Kremlin offered Chile $50 million in low-interest credits to purchase military items.

The report of Peruvian interest in Soviet-made arms comes amid renewed tension between Washington and Lima over Peru's claim to jurisdiction over the seas 200 miles from its coast. In the past 10 days, 18 American fishing vessels have been seized in what the United States considers international waters.

The United States has protested the seizures to the Peruvian government and begun a review of military sales to Peru, satisfying a congressional statute requiring suspension of such sales in cases of ship seizures the United States considers illegal.

American informants said the Peruvian delegations looked at MIG21s and an array of other Soviet military equipment during visits to Moscow in June and Havana in December.

Agriculture, Electronics

Scholarships Are Offered

Two companies have announced offers of scholarships—one to 1973 high school graduates seeking careers in electronics and one for college juniors and seniors completing agriculture undergraduate studies.

Ohio Institute of Technology, 1350 Alum Creek Drive, Columbus, will award over $28,000 in its annual scholarship program. Five students will receive grants—each valued at approximately $5,600—to cover tuition and fees for Ohio Tech's 12-quarter electronics technology program.

Ohio Tech graduates are awarded a bachelor's degree in Electronics Engineering Technology.

Scholarship winners will be determined on the basis of an aptitude exam given on March 3. Students may take the exam at Ohio Tech, or at their high school under the supervision of a faculty member. Applicants should be graduating high school in 1973 with credits for one year each of algebra and science.

The final date for submitting applications is Feb. 17.

Ohio Institute of Technology is one of the nationwide network of Bell and Howell Schools. For further information about Ohio Tech's scholarship program, call Roland Malka, Director of Admissions, at 253-7291.

For incoming junior or senior students at 65 state universities and land grant colleges, Purina is offering $500 scholarships to students in agriculture studies.

For its award, the student selected is recommended by a scholarship committee consisting of faculty members of the college. Letters are now being sent to all the eligible colleges offering the 1973-74 scholarships.

The recipient is chosen on the basis of scholastic record, participation in campus affairs and eligibility for financial assistance. He must be a student majoring in Agriculture Engineering, Food Science, Ag Marketing or another related field.

Correspondence and recommendations should be addressed to George H. Kyd, Public Relations Director, Ralston Purina Co., Checkerboard Square Plaza, St. Louis, Mo.

Viet Vet Protests Solon's Move

BOSTON (AP) — A 26-year-old Vietnam veteran handed over his medals to state Rep. Peter Harrington, D-Newton, Wednesday, saying he was tired of seeing Harrington "make a mockery of justice and democracy."

Jerome Riley of Dorchester said he was protesting Harrington's bill that would require the state's attorney general to defend any resident of Massachusetts who left the country to avoid the draft.

Riley told Harrington, "I'm giving you these medals I earned in Vietnam in memory of all my comrades who died there, who gave their lives so that you could make a mockery of justice and democracy and the American system. I don't like to see what you're trying to do."

Riley said he served with the 173rd Airborne Brigade for 18 months in Vietnam through August 1967. He gave Harrington a Bronze Star he was awarded for bravery, his Vietnam campaign ribbon with four stars for various campaigns in the war and his combat infantryman badge.

"I don't want these decorations any longer," Riley said. "I want you to have them so you can pin them on all the draft dodgers and antiwar protestors in Canada and Sweden and other places overseas."

Provides Live Prayer

CALGARY, Canada (AP) — Calgaryans who phone a dial-a-prayer service don't end up with a recording. A secretary answers the telephone, asks the caller about the problem and offers to help. If the caller asks for a prayer, the call is put through to a minister.

Use The Classifieds

IN THE OPINION OF THE COURT

Crime, drug abuse, sexual license, contempt for society — on all counts the situation is worse, not better. Why do we no longer hear much about juvenile and parental delinquency?

First, the more common evil becomes, the less it is called delinquency. Lower standards enough and there are no delinquents!

Second, it wasn't juvenile or parental delinquency that caused our plight. It was spiritual delinquency. Millions in our society set their spiritual standards at a level where such delinquency became custom.

The thing to do with an opinion like this is to REVERSE it. That can be done by a Higher Court — such as an aroused citizenry, seeking every spiritual opportunity and fulfilling every religious responsibility that its churches provide and teach.

Protests

Solon's Move

BOSTON (AP) — A 26-year-old Vietnam veteran handed over his medals to state Rep. Peter Harrington, D-Newton, Wednesday, saying he was tired of seeing Harrington "make a mockery of justice and democracy."

Jerome Riley of Dorchester said he was protesting Harrington's bill that would require the state's attorney general to defend any resident of Massachusetts who left the country to avoid the draft.

Riley told Harrington, "I'm giving you these medals I earned in Vietnam in memory of all my comrades who died there, who gave their lives so that you could make a mockery of justice and democracy and the American system. I don't like to see what you're trying to do."

Riley said he served with the 173rd Airborne Brigade for 18 months in Vietnam through August 1967. He gave Harrington a Bronze Star he was awarded for bravery, his Vietnam campaign ribbon with four stars for various campaigns in the war and his combat infantryman badge.

"I don't want these decorations any longer," Riley said. "I want you to have them so you can pin them on all the draft dodgers and antiwar protesters in Canada and Sweden and other places overseas."

Provides Live Prayer

CALGARY, Canada (AP) — Calgarians who phone a dial-a-prayer service don't end up with a recording. A secretary answers the telephone, asks the caller about the problem and offers to help. If the caller asks for a prayer, the call is put through to a minister.

Teays Valley Athletic Booster Club will sponsor a card party to be held Saturday in the high school cafeteria. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Robert C. Gilbert II has been discharged from Riverside Methodist Hospital and is convalescing at his home. He was to enter the Plastic Surgeons of Ohio Office in Columbus on Jan. 25 to undergo further surgery.

Mr. William Norris of East Main Street is a medical patient in Mercy Hospital, Columbus. He is in room 315. He entered the hospital Jan. 12.

Saturday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. David McCain were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hahn of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McCain of St. Paul and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar McCain of Circleville.

The Ashville Community Club will meet Monday in the K. P. Hall. A dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. Tickets are available from members or may be purchased at the door.

Word has been received here of the death of Richard Fudge, son of Rev. and Mrs. H. D. Fudge. His death occurred Dec. 15 while he was hiking in the Yosemite National Park in California. He was to be buried last week in Canal Fulton, Ohio. Rev. Fudge and family were former residents of Ashville while he served as pastor of the Ashville-Lockbourne Lutheran Churches.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cloud of Columbus announce the birth of a son, Chad Mandell, on Jan. 19. The new baby weighed in at eight pounds and nine ounces. Paternal grandparents are Mrs. Clarence Cloud and the late Mr. Cloud.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester McCain were the Thursday evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. David McCain at Reeb's in Columbus.

Results of the Ashville Belles Tuesday Morning Housewives Bowling League for Jan. 23 were: high single game Jill Roese, 203; high three-game series, Jill Roese, 576; high team game, Morrison's Market, 629; high team series, Morrison's Market, 1851.

The Bastian Funeral Home ambulance made the following runs the past several weeks:

Jan. 9 — took Nellie Brumfield of Gregory Trailer Park to Berger Hospital; Jan. 13 — took Mrs. Etna Cline to Mercy Hospital; Jan. 14 — took Ralph Tigner to Mercy Hospital; Jan. 17 — took Ray Forbush to Doctors Hospital; Jan. 17 — took Virgil Walden to University Hospital; Jan. 17 — took Mr. Robert Gregory, Principal of the Ashville Elementary Schools, to Mercy Hospital; Jan. 18 — took Bessie Hinton to Mercy Hospital; Jan. 21 — took Ed Dixon to the Lockbourne Air Force Base Hospital; Jan. 23 — moved Miss Helen Coon from Mercy Hospital to the Monterey Nursing Inn in Grove City.

Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. David McCain were Mrs. Ada Ept and Mr. Gene Herdt of Columbus. That evening Mr. and Mrs. McCain, Mr. and Mrs. Paul McCain, Mrs. Mary Lou Brown and Carolyn enjoyed dinner at the steak house in Circleville and then visited with Mr. and Mrs. Marvin McCain and Gene of Kingston.

Mrs. Elda Behnke received word over the weekend of the death of Mrs. John Taylor of Mt. Vernon. She passed away Friday and services were held for her on Monday. Her husband, Rev. John Taylor, passed away three months ago.

Mr. Robert Welsh of South Bloomfield is now a patient in University Hospital, Columbus. He was transferred there from Berger Hospital in Circleville. Mr. Welsh is a retired employee of the Ashville Post Office.

The Ashville Women's Civic Club will meet Feb. 1 in the home of Mrs. Roger Hedges, at 7 p.m. for a Smorgasbord. Each member is asked to furnish her own table service and is reminded to bring a hat to be sold.

Mrs. Daisy Kinnamon was the honored guest at a stork shower on Jan. 25 in the home of Mrs. Marie Davis with Mrs. Nellie Clark as assisting hostess.

Those enjoying the evening were Marie Kirk, Mary Sizemore, Janet Brady, Donnay Brady, Esther Gillard, Betty Runkle, Ginger Rathburn, Lucile Carpenter and Pam, Beatrice Smith, Jennie Myers, Deanna Damron, Kathy Brown, Lora Kinnamon and the hostesses, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Clark.

Those sending gifts were Linda Kirk of Columbus, Mildred Kinnamon, Chillicothe, Miss Sinif of Oetz, Mary Lemaster and daughters of Circleville, Mrs. Dick Toole, Nancy Lemaster, Elizabeth Pettibone, Doris Lemaster, and Mary Lemaster.

Several games were played with prizes being awarded to Marie Kirk, Donna Brady, Esther Gillard and Janet Brady. The door prize was won by Mary Sizemore. All of the prizes were then presented to the honored guest, Mrs. Kinnamon, who received many, many lovely gifts from those attending.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Clark.

Wallace Has Surgery

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace was scheduled to undergo surgery today to improve abdominal drainage impaired by a bullet which injured his spinal cord in an assassination attempt last May.

Elvin Stanton, a Wallace aide, said the surgery was not mandatory but was aimed at relieving some discomfort experienced by the partially paralyzed governor.

Dr. George H. Myers Jr., professor and director of urology at the University of Alabama Medical Center here, was to perform the operation, the sixth for Wallace since he was shot while campaigning for the presidential nomination in Laurel, Md., May 15.

Wallace, who is paralyzed from the waist down, was admitted to University Hospital Thursday after returning from Washington where he attended funeral services for former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Henry Kissinger's Future Is A Mystery

WASHINGTON (AP) — Has Henry Kissinger talked himself out of a job? President Nixon's assistant for national-security affairs simply smiled Wednesday when asked that question.

What indeed will Kissinger do now that Vietnam peace, at last, is at hand? Gossipy Washington is churning out an assortment of answers with little help from Kissinger, who has indicated he doesn't know himself.

"What can top Paris?" he mused during a conversation, referring to the city he visited 24 times in 42 months pursuing a peace accord.

Kissinger said a few weeks ago that once a Vietnam peace was wrapped up he hoped for a leisurely vacation in Mexico. Beyond that, there has been little information about his plans.

No sudden change is anticipated in Kissinger's role as Nixon's chief foreign-policy adviser. But Kissinger has suggested to friends that the National Security Council apparatus he heads would have a better chance of enduring in subsequent administrations if it had someone else at the helm—at least for a while—before Nixon leaves office.

In this way, the Germanborn, former Harvard professor has signaled a desire to leave the White House before Nixon does.

But there have been signs, too, that Kissinger would relish an opportunity to turn his immense energies to other world problems—rebuilding America's European alliances, helping build a new era in East-West relations and perhaps working for a Middle East solution.

Kissinger has appeared to leave public efforts toward a Mideast settlement to others—perhaps because he is Jewish. But the Arabs themselves reportedly have shown some interest in enlisting Kissinger's talents toward working out a solution.

Kissinger's timetable for departing from the White House conceivably could be influenced by what has been interpreted as a recent series of slights by Nixon.

In his speech Tuesday night, Nixon mentioned Kissinger only once, when he quoted an agreed-upon statement issued simultaneously with Hanoi that Kissinger and Le Duc Tho had initialed an agreement. Nowhere in the speech did he praise or pay tribute to the thousands of hours Kissinger had devoted in four years to ending the Vietnam war.

After Kissinger returned from Paris Tuesday night, he joined Nixon in meeting with six congressional leaders

Soviets Willing To Join International Conference

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is prepared to participate in the international peace conference to guarantee the end of the war in Vietnam, a foreign ministry official said today.

But the official said he did not yet know the date and place of the conference provided for in Article 19 of the Paris agreement to be signed Saturday.

Western sources said the conference — to be held within 30 days of the signing — probably would be in Paris, the site of Vietnam peace negotiations since May 1968.

The purpose of the conference, the peace agreement states, is to:

"Acknowledge the signed agreements, guarantee the ending of the war, the maintenance of peace in Vietnam, the respect of the Vietnamese people's fundamental national rights, and the South Vietnamese people's right to self-determination and to contribute to and guarantee peace in Indochina."

The United States and North Vietnam "will propose," the agreement says, participation of the Soviet Union, China, France, Britain, the Saigon Government and the Viet Cong — well as the four members of the cease-fire control commission — Canada, Poland, Hungary and Indonesia.

It was not yet known in Moscow whether formal invitations had been sent, but Western sources said they might be withheld until the agreement was signed.

Meantime, the Soviet press has published the text of the agreement initialed in Paris on Tuesday. Commentary with it stresses the settlement as a victory for Vietnamese Communists and their foreign supporters.

Over-all, Soviet press comment has been restrained.

Step Up Efforts On Jobs For Vets

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has ordered renewed federal efforts to find jobs for veterans returning from the Vietnam war.

The President Thursday signed an executive order strengthening directions that federal agencies and federal contractors and sub-contractors list job openings with employment service systems.

Nixon directed that the federal government must submit regular listings of suitable employment openings to state employment services or the U.S. Employment Service.

to report on the agreement. When cameramen were ushered into the President's office at the beginning of the session, they were led to a position behind Kissinger. Everyone's face except Kissinger's could be seen clearly in subsequent photos.

A half-hour later, Nixon convened a meeting of his full Cabinet. Around the big table were seated department heads and an assortment of White House counselors. Kissinger was seated in a chair against the wall.

Son 'Doesn't Have Guts' To Hijack Plane, Mom Says

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — William T. Dalpiaz, 18, held under $50,000 bond for trying to board a plane with weapons and explosives "just isn't the type," says his mother, "I don't think he'd have the guts."

Mrs. Joseph Dalpiaz, mother of seven, speaking from her Ironwood, Mich. home, described her son as "well adjusted, not frustrated" and a boy who paints signs and posters to earn money to enter a commercial art school.

"He's a good boy, he was working in Covington, Ky. helping to set up a silk screen printing plant. He called me to say he was coming home for a few days."

U.S. Magistrate Robert Cetrulo Thursday set the bond higher than the U.S. Attorney's office suggested $20,000 because "this is an extremely serious charge."

He set preliminary hearing for Feb. 2 in U.S. District Court. Dalpiaz declined a court appointed attorney saying his family would provide one.

The federal charges were unlawful attempt to board an aircraft while carrying a concealed and deadly weapon; and with "willfully attempting, with intent, to damage, destroy, disable or wreck an aircraft by placing a destructive substance in, upon, or near an aircraft."

Louis Defalaise, an assistant U.S.

attorney, said evidence indicates Dalpiaz produced the weapons at one security checkpoint, then proceeded to a second checkpoint just prior to boarding the plane.

Defalaise said security guards were warned about Dalpiaz and that a search turned up the explosive devices—made of a non-metallic material, which had escaped earlier detections.

Defalaise said the items spotted by electronic devices included a revolver which was locked in a case, bullets of a different caliber. Then the revolver, and a pocket knife.

Non-metallic items in the search of Dalpiaz included a plastic practice grenade, some wiring and a small explosive device that simulates the sound of an exploding artillery shell.

He said the explosive devices could be considered a danger to passengers up to 15 feet from the explosion point.

Teen's Flying Hobby Began Years Ago With Toy Craft

By PAT CURRIE
"Either you like it or you don't" says CHS senior Steve Crist about his favorite hobby — flying.
Steve, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Crist, 600 Ridgewood, says he first became interested in flying when, at the age of ten, he built his own hovercraft which flew 18 inches above the ground. A few years later, the hovercraft was replaced by interest in flying Cessna 150's.

After a year of ground school and 30 hours of flight training at South Columbus Airport, Steve received his private pilot's license. This license enables him to transport people anywhere in the US as long as his credits meet requirements, but he can not fly for hire.

He is qualified to fly any single-engine plane and can rent aircraft anywhere in the country. Steve says, "The private license is just the beginning of flying; you progress from there."

Steve has had mountain flight training in Utah, as well as training in night flying.

Among the types of planes he has flown are listed the Cherokee 140, the Piper Cub tail-dragger, the Cessna 150 and Cessna 172.

Steve told us that although he has had several close calls, he has never had any serious problem while flying and has never gotten lost.

After graduation he plans to continue his education towards a bachelor's degree. He also hopes to receive his advanced ratings and become a qualified commercial and instrument pilot and instructor.

Steve says he flies on weekends whenever the weather permits, and asks that anyone interested in going for a ride in a plane contact him, as he will be only too happy to oblige!

Calm Kitty Takes Wind Out Of Foe

By DAVE TRUEX
Circleville's calm, composed Tigers ran their league record to 5-1 as they downed a greatly improved Wilmington team 66-61.

The Tigers played perhaps one of their finest "team" defensive games of the year as they held the Hurricanes 12 points under their average.

The Red and Black cagers were down by as many as 8 points but stuck to their game plan and never cracked. They pulled into the lead with only three minutes to go and never relinquished it.

Leading the Tigers was Dan Graham with 22 points, 14 of which came in the final quarter. Dave Truex and Greg Hoskins also contributed offensively as they added 20 and 10 points respectively.

Tonight the Tigers tangle with Hillsboro on the Indians' hardwood. The Tigers will have to contain stand-out forward, Don Jewett. Saturday night, a county rivalry will resume as the Red and Black take on Teays Valley in the Mill Street Gym.

FSB Head Speaks To CHS Classes

By CAROL BALLOU
Ralph C. Starkey, superintendent of the Fairfield School for Boys, spoke to all CHS psychology classes on Jan. 18. Starkey is a 1949 graduate of CHS. He attended college at Bowling Green, West Virginia and Ohio State.

Before becoming superintendent of FSB, Starkey was an executive secretary of the Pickaway County Child Welfare Board and also superintendent of the Ohio Youth Commission's Zanesville Youth Camp.

Starkey's talk covered the individual treatment of the boys and a rehabilitation program. He described the four-phase treatment that takes a boy five months to complete. A question and answer period followed his talk.

Citizen Award Is Presented

TERRI GRIFFITH

By BARBARA SOUDERS
Each year the National Society of the Daughters of American Revolution presents the Good Citizens Award to all accredited high school students for dependability, service, leadership and patriotism. The Circleville test was given Nov. 17.

This year's recipient is Terri Griffith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Griffith of 300 Lewis Road. She received a certificate, pin and the right to compete in the state contest.

The six students receiving the highest score in the state receive U.S. Savings Bonds. The three top scorers attend the Ohio State DAR Conference in March. The state winner may compete for the National Society $1000 scholarship to the state university of her choice.

Council Suggestion Boxes Installed

By PAT CURRIE
Attention, students! Have you got any ideas, suggestions, or gripes that you would like to bring to the attention of Student Council?

If you are not free to attend council meetings, write down your idea or problem and drop it into one of the new Student Council suggestion boxes found in the front office and in the library. You do not even have to sign your name!

These boxes will be opened before every Student Council meeting and all valid and practical suggestions and problems will be reviewed and discussed.

This is another way that Council is trying to help you and find out what is bugging you, and it would appreciate your cooperation.

Students Have Varied Ways Of Reaching Goal

By KRIS RIED
Why do students feel that they must be accepted by other students? Why do people feel they have to follow the crowd?

Some high school students say they have to be part of the crowd to get anywhere. Everyone knows the names of their fellow students with high grades and college as part of their future plans because they are the ones who are constantly doing something.

Yet, there is also another crowd—the one with students of average grades and those who plan to earn money immediately after graduation. They are trying to make it in the world just as the other crowd is, but in a different way. Their names, though, are seldom in "lights" because no one wants to hear about an everyday person. It is different with the out-going student. Why?

There is the third person who is not in either crowd. He is the individualist, the one who does things for himself because he wants to, not because everyone else is doing it. If he wants to go to college or get a job, he will do it. Tradition is acceptable to him when he needs it, but a change might be his next step. He wants to be himself, and often the two crowds reject him because of this.

Three different people, and they are all the same. Each one has a goal to reach, getting there the way he thinks is best.

No one should judge another as doing something the wrong way because that person is not doing it the same way he is. Everyone has a separate route to take to arrive at his happiness, and each way may be the correct way.

Student Motivation Is Teacher's Goal

Featured as this week's new teacher is Tom Cole, who teaches eighth grade American history at CJHS.

TOM COLE
Eighth Grade History

Coming from Heath, Ohio, he now resides with his wife at 23 AW Trailer Court.

Mr. Cole graduated from Otterbein College with a BS degree in secondary education. He majored in history and minored in government. While there, he was active in football, the fellowship of Christian Athletes, Eta Phi Fraternity and was the president of the Inter-Fraternity Council.

At CJHS, he is also the head coach of the seventh and eighth grade football team. He belongs to the CEA, OEA and COTA. Cole fills his spare time with reading and football.

"I hope to motivate the students through a variety of methods to have a knowledge of history and to be a good citizen" this first-year teacher states as his teaching philosophy.

Cole likes the staff and system at Circleville and says the students are great to work with.

New Junior Okays CHS

DEBBIE NORRIS
By MARCIA PLESCIA

Debbie Norris, a junior at CHS is a new student at the high school, but is not new to Circleville. She resides at 716 E. Ohio St. with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Norris and five sisters and two brothers.

Before coming to CHS she attended Chillicothe High School. While living in Chillicothe, Debbie was active as a candy-striper for the hospital.

During her spare time she keeps busy with her motorcycle. Her other favorites are horses, basketball and vacation.

When asked to comment on CHS she replied, "I like this school. It's OK."

CHS Victors In Benefit Game

By GLEN GILLESPIE
Monday night, the Circleville Faculty defeated the Teays Valley Faculty, 80 to 59, in a benefit game for Jeff Beatty played at Teays Valley High School.

The Tiger Faculty led the whole game, but was tied late in the third quarter. A final period scoring spree by Jim Diltz and Kelly Boyer clinched the victory.

Chess Club Is Active

By JUNE BRUDZINSKI

Have you heard about CHS's newest club? The Circleville Chess Club has gotten off to an active start this year, aided by 15 enthusiastic members and advisor Steve McElroy.

A member of the Central Ohio Chess Association, Circleville's clever clan has competed so far in matches with Teays Valley and Hamilton Township. They were edged 3-1 in both games, but McElroy comments, "With a new team it's hard to find practice time. They are inexperienced but hard-working."

In addition to playing other schools, the wizards of wit challenge each other at twice-a-month meetings, where they also discuss various moves and learn chess notation.

Before league competition ends in February, the CHS teams plans to meet with Canal Winchester, Franklin Heights, Columbus South (Team A) and Westland (Team B). Observers are welcomed at the matches, provided they are quiet and do not disturb the players.

Preparations For Spring Dances Already Underway

The Junior Class is already making plans for the 1973 Junior-Senior Prom to be held May 19.

"Land of Oz" was chosen as the theme; other themes up for balloting were "Moonlight and Roses," and "Disneyland." Chairman Kathy Uland commented that committees are being formed and chairmen will soon be appointed.

Plans are also now being made for the annual Sweetheart Dance on March 17. This dance is sponsored by the SOS club, and this year's chairman is Marilyn Koch. The theme is "Reflections," and to carry out this theme are committee chairmen: refreshments, Carol Kirkwood; bandstand, Debbie Green; throne, Virginia Johnson; favors, Bonnie Gwinn; programs, Debbie Bauer; walls, Cynthia Pike; ceiling, Cheryl LeMay; tables, Ruth Beck; and entrance, Missy Schein.

The unique difference of this dance is that the girls ask the boys.

TIM LEIST

By LAURIE AYERS

A sales clerk in the sporting good department at Buckeye Mart, Tim Leist, 430 Brown St., is this week's DECA student.

Tim works approximately 40 hours a week, pricing stock and putting it out for display, and hopes to continue with his present job after graduation.

When asked his reaction to the public he replied, "Almost everyone is different in their perspective. I try to be as helpful, in a polite manner, to each and every customer."

Uneventful Friday and Saturday nights are the things he dislikes most, and football, basketball, baseball and quartermile racing are his likes.

Teen's Flying Hobby Began Years Ago With Toy Craft

By PAT CURRIE
 "Either you like it or you don't" says CHS senior Steve Crist about his favorite hobby — flying.
 Steve, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Crist, 600 Ridgewood, says he first became interested in flying when, at the age of ten, he built his own hovercraft which flew 18 inches above the ground. A few years later, the hovercraft was replaced by interest in flying Cessna 150's.

After a year of ground school and 30 hours of flight training at South Columbus Airport, Steve received his private pilot's license. This license enables him to transport people anywhere in the US as long as his credits meet requirements, but he can not fly for hire.

He is qualified to fly any single-engine plane and can rent aircraft anywhere in the country. Steve says, "The private license is just the beginning of flying; you progress from there."

Steve has had mountain flight training in Utah, as well as training in night flying.

Among the types of planes he has flown are listed the Cherokee 140, the Piper Cub tail-dragger, the Cessna 150 and Cessna 172.

Steve told us that although he has had several close calls, he has never had any serious problem while flying and has never gotten lost.

After graduation he plans to continue his education towards a bachelor's degree. He also hopes to receive his advanced ratings and become a qualified commercial and instrument pilot and instructor.

Steve says he flies on weekends whenever the weather permits, and asks that anyone interested in going for a ride in a plane contact him, as he will be only too happy to oblige!

Students Have Varied Ways Of Reaching Goal

By KRIS RIED
 Why do students feel that they must be accepted by other students? Why do people feel they have to follow the crowd?

Some high school students say they have to be part of the crowd to get anywhere. Everyone knows the names of their fellow students with high grades and college as part of their future plans because they are the ones who are constantly doing something.

Yet, there is also another crowd—the one with students of average grades and those who plan to earn money immediately after graduation. They are trying to make it in the world just as the other crowd is, but in a different way. Their names, though, are seldom in "lights" because no one wants to hear about an everyday person. It is different with the out-going student. Why?

There is the third person who is not in either crowd. He is the individualist, the one who does things for himself because he wants to, not because everyone else is doing it. If he wants to go to college or get a job, he will do it. Tradition is acceptable to him when he needs it, but a change might be his next step. He wants to be himself, and often the two crowds reject him because of this.

Three different people, and they are all the same. Each one has a goal to reach, getting there the way he thinks is best.

No one should judge another as doing something the wrong way because that person is not doing it the same way he is. Everyone has a separate route to take to arrive at his happiness, and each way may be the correct way.

Student Motivation Is Teacher's Goal

Featured as this week's new teacher is Tom Cole, who teaches eighth grade American history at CJHS.

TOM COLE
 Eighth Grade History

Coming from Heath, Ohio, he now resides with his wife at 23 AW Trailer Court.

Mr. Cole graduated from Otterbein College with a BS degree in secondary education. He majored in history and minored in government. While there, he was active in football, the fellowship of Christian Athletes, Eta Phi Fraternity and was the president of the Inter-Fraternity Council.

At CJHS, he is also the head coach of the seventh and eighth grade football team. He belongs to the CEA, OEA and COTA. Cole fills his spare time with reading and football.

"I hope to motivate the students through a variety of methods to have a knowledge of history and to be a good citizen" this first-year teacher states as his teaching philosophy.

Cole likes the staff and system at Circleville and says the students are great to work with.

DEBBIE NORRIS
 By MARCIA PLESCIA

Debbie Norris, a junior at CHS is a new student at the high school, but is not new to Circleville. She resides at 716 E. Ohio St. with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Norris and five sisters and two brothers.

Before coming to CHS she attended Chillicothe High School. While living in Chillicothe, Debbie was active as a candy-striper for the hospital.

During her spare time she keeps busy with her motorcycle. Her other favorites are horses, basketball and vacation.

When asked to comment on CHS she replied, "I like this school, it's OK."

CHS Victors In Benefit Game

By GLEN GILLESPIE
 Monday night, the Circleville Faculty defeated the Teays Valley Faculty, 80 to 59, in a benefit game for Jeff Beatty played at Teays Valley High School.

The Tiger Faculty led the whole game, but was tied late in the third quarter. A final period scoring spree by Jim Diltz and Kelly Boyer clinched the victory.

Citizen Award Is Presented

TERRI GRIFFITH

By BARBARA SOUDERS

Each year the National Society of the Daughters of American Revolution presents the Good Citizens Award to all accredited high school students for dependability, service, leadership and patriotism. The Circleville test was given Nov. 17.

This year's recipient is Terri Griffith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Griffith of 300 Lewis Road. She received a certificate, pin and the right to compete in the state contest.

The six students receiving the highest score in the state receive U.S. Savings Bonds. The three top scorers attend the Ohio State DAR Conference in March. The state winner may compete for the National Society $1000 scholarship to the state university of her choice.

Council Suggestion Boxes Installed

By PAT CURRIE

Attention, students! Have you got any ideas, suggestions, or gripes that you would like to bring to the attention of Student Council?

If you are not free to attend council meetings, write down your idea or problem and drop it into one of the new Student Council suggestion boxes found in the front office and in the library. You do not even have to sign your name!

These boxes will be opened before every Student Council meeting and all valid and practical suggestions and problems will be reviewed and discussed.

This is another way that Council is trying to help you and find out what is bugging you, and it would appreciate your cooperation.

FSB Head Speaks To CHS Classes

By CAROL BALLOU

Ralph C. Starkey, superintendent of the Fairfield School for Boys, spoke to all CHS psychology classes on Jan. 18. Starkey is a 1949 graduate of CHS. He attended college at Bowling Green, West Virginia and Ohio State.

Before becoming superintendent of FSB, Starkey was an executive secretary of the Pickaway County Child Welfare Board and also superintendent of the Ohio Youth Commission's Zanesville Youth Camp.

Starkey's talk covered the individual treatment of the boys and a rehabilitation program. He described the four-phase treatment that takes a boy five months to complete. A question and answer period followed his talk.

Preparations For Spring Dances Already Underway

The Junior Class is already making plans for the 1973 Junior-Senior Prom to be held May 19.

"Land of Oz" was chosen as the theme; other themes up for balloting were "Moonlight and Roses," and "Disneyland." Chairman Kathy Uland commented that committees are being formed and chairmen will soon be appointed.

Plans are also now being made for the annual Sweetheart Dance on March 17. This dance is sponsored by the SOS club, and this year's chairman is Marilyn Koch. The theme is "Reflections," and to carry out this theme are committee chairmen: refreshments, Carol Kirkwood; bandstand, Debbie Green; throne, Virginia Johnson; favors, Bonnie Gwinn; programs, Debbie Bauer; walls, Cynthia Pike; ceiling, Cheryl LeMay; tables, Ruth Beck; and entrance, Missy Schein.

The unique difference of this dance is that the girls ask the boys.

TIM LEIST

By LAURIE AYERS

A sales clerk in the sporting good department at Buckeye Mart, Tim Leist, 430 Brown St., is this week's DECA student.

Tim works approximately 40 hours a week, pricing stock and putting it out for display, and hopes to continue with his present job after graduation.

When asked his reaction to the public he replied, "Almost everyone is different in their perspective. I try to be as helpful, in a polite manner, to each and every customer."

Uneventful Friday and Saturday nights are the things he dislikes most, and football, basketball, baseball and quartermile racing are his likes.

Cure For Blues Found In Games

During Lunches

By BRUCE RICKERD
Do you get bored after eating lunch? Maybe you are suffering from the dreaded "lunchroom blues."

But wait! There is hope; a cure has been found at CHS. After long hours and dedication, a well-disciplined group called the Stooze Club thought up this idea to beat the blues — called a "one on one" tournament. After all, would you rather watch "big" Joe Burgess take on Mr. "Big K" Boyer at basketball or watch the custodian take out the trash?

The gym has been blessed with two weeks of exciting, suspenseful games, like the game between 6'5" Coach Cook and 3'5" Mark Hoffman, in which little Hoffman won 20-14.

The tournament is progressing into the semi-final matches which should start early next week. Already hundreds of students have been cured, and we think the Stooze club deserves a lot of credit.

America needs more people like CHS's Stoozes!

Matmen Rank 7th In Tournament

By DON GOELLER
Circleville grabbed a seventh place in the Licking Heights Tournament Saturday on fine performances by Dave Webb and Tom Frericks, who won their respective weight classes.

Webb (132) won his first match by a pin, and gained decisions in his two other matches to gain the top spot, while Frericks decisioned his first two men and had a pin in his championship bout.

Three Tiger matmen, Don Seyfang (126), Jim Payne (138) and Stuart Moore (175) came up with fourth place finishes to complete the fine showing.

The Tigers will be back in action again when they host Grandview tomorrow at 1 p.m.

4 Americans Declared Dead In Indochina War

SAIGON, (AP) — No Americans were reported killed in action in Indochina fighting last week but four fliers listed previously as missing were changed to killed in action, the U.S. Command said today in what should be its next-to-last weekly casualty summary.

Six U.S. Servicemen were reported wounded, none of them seriously, and two deaths from nonhostile causes were reported.

Command spokesmen said the four fliers were lost over Laos. The spokesmen said they did not know when.

The South Vietnamese command reported 358 government troops killed in action last week, 1,481 wounded and 32 missing, about the average since the beginning of December. The command claimed 1,643 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed.

Morality Of Abortion Stirs Church Leaders

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Despite the U.S. Supreme Court decision removing legal restrictions on early abortions, the question of their morality still remains dynamite in American religious convictions.

It is not simply a difference between religious groups, but runs explosively through all of them, Protestant, Jewish and Roman Catholic.

The official position of many Protestant denominations, along with that of the Roman Catholic Church, is strongly antiabortion, despite exceptions of some theologians in both groups and some Protestant bodies.

Eastern Orthodox churches and orthodox Judaism also sharply oppose abortion, while reform and conservative Judaism have favored easing laws against it.

So sharp and sensitive are the differences over the matter that a cooperative organization of most major Protestant and Orthodox bodies, the National Council of Churches, has been unable — in four years of trying — to formulate a modern stand on it.

"The new permissiveness of the law confronts the churches with a greater, more urgent responsibility than before," Dr. R. H. Edwin Espy, general secretary of the council, said of the high court ruling.

"With the legal restraints removed, it is more essential that the religious dimensions be brought to bear to help people make a responsible decision, not only the pregnant woman, but doctors and all those involved."

Other religious leaders also said the court decision, although striking out legal barriers to abortions in the first three months, does not resolve the religious-ethical issue.

This simply is left up to the individuals, their consciences and the influence of their religious guides.

"One trusts in the decency and good sense of the American people not to let an illogical court decision dictate to them on...morality and human life," said John Cardinal Krol, president of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops.

While the matter now is left to individual choice, the conflict over it rolls on in religious circles, and among ethicists in biological sciences.

"Changing of laws does not change people's convictions about a practice," says Methodist theologian J. Robert Nelson, of Boston University.

The question has produced one of the keenest moral battles of the century. In numerous Protestant and Jewish bodies, it has brought about revisions of their former antiabortion stands.

At the heart of the struggle has been question of just when a human life begins.

Judeo-Christianity, emphasizing the sacred worth of each person, originally held that life began at conception and that a developing fetus thus constituted life as precious as after birth.

Modern genetics reinforced this view, contends Protestant moral theologian Paul Ramsey of Princeton University. "Genetics teaches us that we were from the beginning what we essentially still are in every cell."

Early Christianity and Judaism condemned abortion along with infanticide, both of which were permitted in ancient pagan societies.

But in modern times, amid rising concern for population control and women's rights, numerous Protestant groups have urged removal of legal prohibitions on abortion, leaving it to individual choice in early stages.

This position, taken by the Supreme Court, has been officially endorsed by the United Church of Christ, the United Presbyterian Church, the Lutheran Church in America and the United Methodist Church.

Other Protestants insist abortion be limited to cases endangering the mother's life or in cases of rape, incest or fetal deformity. Versions of this position have taken by Southern Baptists, the Episcopal Church, the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, the National Association of Evangelicals and the National Baptist Convention, a black denomination.

Blacks and other minorities in the churches generally have fought liberalized abortion policies, calling them genocidal.

New Rescue Tool Shown; Tears Automobile Apart

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland fire officials were so happy with the new rescue tool given them by Cleveland State University Wednesday they ripped an automobile apart to show what it could do.

The $3,800 Hurst power rescue tools, purchased with a local assistance grant from the State Board of Regents, were presented to Fire Chief William Barry by P. S. Kinsey, director of security at CSU. Kinsey said CSU had received a total of $29,000 from the regents "who were concerned with the load placed on the community by the rapid expansion of urban universities."

"I hope the program will continue," Kinsey said. "The grants provide each urban university with an opportunity to use the funds in coordination with local police and fire departments."

Two of the recently developed Hurst rescue tools and 110 oxygen masks costing some $5,000 were presented to the fire department.

In a demonstration at the Fire Academy near downtown Cleveland, a Hurst representative used the portable, hydraulically operated rescue tool to open up a car whose top had been crushed down to simulate damage in a roll-over accident.

The tool, which looks like a big pair of pliers but has five tons of force in its jaws, quickly pried up the crushed car top and then was used to rip the steering column out.

were presented to Fire Chief William Barry by P. S. Kinsey, director of security at CSU. Kinsey said CSU had received a total of $29,000 from the regents "who were concerned with the load placed on the community by the rapid expansion of urban universities."

"I hope the program will continue," Kinsey said. "The grants provide each urban university with an opportunity to use the funds in coordination with local police and fire departments."

Two of the recently developed Hurst rescue tools and 110 oxygen masks costing some $5,000 were presented to the fire department.

In a demonstration at the Fire Academy near downtown Cleveland, a Hurst representative used the portable, hydraulically operated rescue tool to open up a car whose top had been crushed down to simulate damage in a roll-over accident.

The tool, which looks like a big pair of pliers but has five tons of force in its jaws, quickly pried up the crushed car top and then was used to rip the steering column out.

P&G Earnings Rise

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Procter & Gamble Co. has reported a nine per cent increase in earnings and a 10 per cent increase in sales for the second six months of 1972 over the same period in 1971.

TOP FLIGHT— UCLA's Bill Walton gets two more as he leads his team to an 87-73 victory over Loyola of Chicago for the Bruins 60th straight win. It was another fine performance for the big man as he tallied 32 points and pulled down 27 rebounds in the contest.

UCLA Tops Loyola For 60th Victory

CHICAGO (AP) — Big Bill Walton does it all for top-ranked UCLA. And he had to do it again Thursday night as the somewhat pressured Bruins matched college basketball's longest winning streak of 60 games.

Walton's season high of 32 points and a whopping 27 rebounds steered UCLA to an 87-73 victory over lowly Chicago Loyola which didn't know it was licked until the closing minutes of a finale on a Chicago Stadium twin bill.

UCLA Coach Johnny Wooden, who takes his Bruins to Notre Dame Saturday to try for the magic 61st straight victory, said the 6-11 Walton turned in "his normal performance."

But it took all the wondrous Walton's shooting and defensive skill to offset 27 UCLA turnovers. They kept hustling Loyola in the game until a late spurt put the Bruins 17 points ahead at 79-62 with 5:41 remaining.

Although Notre Dame lost in Thursday night's opener to Illinois 87-84, Wooden cautiously looked ahead to Saturday's nationally televised game at South Bend—the scene of UCLA's last defeat, an 89-82 upset by the Fighting Irish on Jan. 23, 1971.

"I know how tough it is to play before that Notre Dame student body because I used to teach as well as coach at a South Bend high school," said Wooden.

The Irish now have a 6-8 record, including an earlier 82-56 loss to UCLA, standing 15-0 for the season as the Bruins aim at their seventh straight NCAA title and ninth in the past decade.

The Bruins now share the record of 60 successive victories set by Bill Russell-led San Francisco from 1954-56 and Wooden said "we are a very proud team in matching the record."

Loyola Coach George Ireland had a tip for any possible upset of UCLA after his Ramblers kept a partisan Chicago Stadium crowd of 15,817 howling for an upset until late in the game.

"You need two hot-shooting guards, hitting 50 or 55 per cent to whip UCLA," said Ireland, whose Ramblers have an 8-6 record.

While UCLA was extending its streak, third-ranked North Carolina was upset by Virginia 84-78, suffering its first home court loss since 1970.

Freshman Wally Walker threw in 25 points, hitting 12 of 13 shots from the floor the pace the Cavaliers. He also grabbed 10 rebounds. Barry Parkhill contributed 23 and Jim Hobgood 22 for the winners, whose spread offense neutralized the Tar Heels' height advantage.

"Virginia played a tremendous game," said NC Coach Dean Smith, whose team faces No. 4 Maryland Saturday. "It will be very difficult to bounce back against Maryland which beat Virginia by 19," said Smith.

Southwestern Louisiana, ranked No. 12, wallopped Rhode Island 124-81 with Dwight Lamar scoring 32 points and Roy Ebron grabbing 20 rebounds. Ebron, a 6-foot-9 junior also scored 23 points.

St. Louis downed Wichita State 75-66 with Jesse Leonard tossing in 28 points. Kresimir Cosic scored a career high 36 points, leading Brigham Young to a 93-79 romp over Arizona. Memphis State blew an early lead, then bounced back to beat Louisville 81-76 for its 11th consecutive victory.

Willie's Dillies

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

A strange phenomenon is beginning to take shape in Pickaway County and it must be the first time on record that there is a possibility of it happening.

Our four area schools compete in three different leagues and are in good position to wrap up all three titles and hang them out to dry.

Circleville, with a record of 10-1, has to be off to the best start in the history of the school. The Tigers are 5-1 in South Central Ohio League play and share the top spot with Washington C.H. They still have games with Hillsboro, and Greenfield on the road with Miami Trace and Washington C.H. coming into Roundtown to wrap up league action.

Teays Valley is in the drivers seat in the Metropolitan League with a record of 8-1. Olentangy and Dublin share second spot with marks of 6-3. The Vikings meet both squads and also Marysville to complete league play. One win will guarantee the Vikings a share of the crown and two wins will lock the barn door and make it a warm winter for the Blue and Gold.

Logan Elm has a 4-0 mark in the Scioto Valley Conference and is fine position for a run at the title. East Clinton is on top with a 5-0 record but has to meet Logan Elm Feb. 9 on the Braves' floor. The other two league games for the Braves are with Paint Valley and Zane Trace.

All three teams will compete in the Class AA sectional tournament at Groveport and the luck of the draw set up some pretty good fireworks on the tourney trail.

But, lets take one step at a time and wrap up some league crowns and then let the chips fall where they may.

Our "fearless" forecast—The Red and Black are on the winning track as the Indians will find out . . . Vikings climb another rung at Marysville . . . Braves smear Paint Valley . . . Mustangs will be out to knock the Rockets off course and get on the win side . . . In the big one, Tiger defense will stop the Blue and Gold offense.

Until next time, have a nice day-be a good sport.

Surprising Houston Rockets Defeat Milwaukee, 129-125

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Johnny Egan must be doing something right. When he assumed the duties of head coach of the Houston Rockets last Sunday, the Rockets defeated the New York Knicks, and Thursday night they made the Milwaukee Bucks their second victim 129-125.

Despite a 48-point spree by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, the Rockets fought off a furious rally by the Bucks to seal the victory.

Rudy Tomjanovich scored 29 points to lead the Rockets whose team total was the highest against Milwaukee this season.

The Bucks cut a 109-91 deficit with nine minutes to play to 124-119 with a minute to play. Mike Newlin then clinched it with a 20-foot jump shot.

In other NBA action, the Phoenix

Suns defeated the Seattle SuperSonics 112-109, the New York Knicks struggled to top Buffalo 99-92 and Golden State defeated Kansas City-Omaha 129-115.

In the only game scheduled in the American Basketball Association, the Indiana Pacers edged the Kentucky Colonels 96-94.

Charlie Scott scored 34 points to lead the Suns and received a lot of help from Luther Green, who collared 15 rebounds.

The Knicks, apparently looking ahead to their weekend clash with Boston, were hardpressed against Buffalo. Walt Frazier lead the Knicks in scoring with 23 points while Elmore Smith paced Buffalo with 21.

Rick Barry, still nursing a sprained ankle that forced him to miss the NBA All-Star Game, scored 30 points in less than three quarters and led Golden State past the Kansas City-Omaha Kings.

Fourteen of Barry's points came in the third quarter when the Warriors broke open a close game.

Nate Archibald of the Kings led all scorers with 39 points.

The other starters for Circleville will be: Joe Smith, 119-pound; Don Seyfang, 126-pound; Dave Webb, 132-pound; Jim Payne, 139-pound; Roger Davis, 145-pound; John McCoy, 155-pound; Stuart Moore, 175-pound; Tim Wilkinson, 185-pound; Tom Frericks, heavyweight.

Winning season records for the Tigers are: Frericks, 11-0, seven pins; Webb, 11-0, four pins; Watters, 6-1; Moore, 8-5; Seyfang, 7-6; McDaniel, 4-3; Payne, 7-4; Mogan, 3-2.

Casper Struggles To Lead In Crosby Pro-Am Tourney

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Billy Casper surveyed the wreckage of his dismal, frustrating 1972 season and spoke in characteristic fashion. "Everything was on a downward ebb," he said. "I was playing bad, swinging bad, thinking bad. But it will probably make me a better individual.

"Now everything is on the upswing."

The 41-year-old Casper, who suffered the poorest season of his brilliant career last year, had just slogged slowly through rain and mud and wind "and maybe a little sleet—just about

Faltering OU Clashes With BGSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "We're sick, but we're not dead yet," says Ohio University Coach Jim Snyder. "I certainly don't think we're ready for TV."

The stumbling Bobcats, the preseason title favorites, now tied for last place, visit Bowling Green Saturday afternoon for the Mid-American Conference's first regional television game of the season.

While Ohio is 1-3, along with Western Michigan, Bowling Green has been the league's surprise. The Falcons share

Say Gabriel Seeks Trade To Redskins

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The San Diego Chargers, John Hadl and Los Angeles Rams all are pleased—but Roman Gabriel apparently is unhappy that Los Angeles is a two-quarterback town again.

The Los Angeles Times said today it had learned Gabriel, silent since the Rams acquired Hadl from the Chargers, would hold a news conference today and ask to be traded—preferably to the Washington Redskins where he would rejoin former Ram Coach George Allen.

The Chargers traded the balding Hadl, their starting quarterback since 1964 and the National Football League's sixth leading passer in history, to the Rams Thursday for defensive end Coy Bacon and running back Bob Thomas.

Rams owner Carroll Rosenbloom said Gabriel "is a fine quarterback, but he was injured much of the time last year and this was a move to shore up the position."

Hadl, who will be 33 next month, is a healthy, solid passer who has thrown for nearly 27,000 yards and 201 touchdowns in 11 pro seasons. He hasn't missed a game because of injury since high school.

everything except snow," to a 66 and the first round lead Thursday in the prestige-laden Bing Crosby National Pro-Am Golf Tournament, offering $205,000 in total prize money.

"I didn't expect to play this well at all," he said. "I played very well and putted extremely well."

Casper, who said he benefited greatly from traditional "Crosby weather" that had other players talking to themselves—Arnold Palmer called it "miserable as hell"—had a two-stroke lead over Tom Weiskopf after his six-under-par effort.

Weiskopf at 68, was followed by veteran Don Massengale, now a club pro in New York's Westchester County, alone at 69. The group at 70, two under par, were big Bobby Nichols, Hubert Green and Bob Eastwood.

All the leaders were at Cypress Point, one of three Monterey peninsula courses being played under the unique format for this event. It's generally considered to be the easiest of the three and is the most sheltered from the weather.

Capital is the only one of the Ohio Conference title contenders involved in league action. The Crusaders visit Mount Union.

In other OC contests, Denison is at Heidelberg, Baldwin-Wallace at Marietta and Wooster at Kenyon.

Elsewhere, Ohio Dominican is at Wilberforce, Urbana at Rio Grande, Taylor at Defiance, Findlay at Bluffton, Wilmington at Centre, Central State at Kentucky Wesleyan, Case Western Reserve at Hiram, John Carroll at Washington and Jefferson, Marian at Cleveland State, Muskingum at Malone, Thiel at Oberlin, Ohio Northern at Wittenberg, St. Vincent at Ashland, Akron at Youngstown and Cedarville at Walsh.

Indiana Set For Contest With Michigan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nationally sixth-ranked Indiana, the Big Ten's surprising instant title contender, risks its perfect 4-0 conference record in a crucial road test against once-beaten Michigan (4-1) Saturday.

The day's four-game league card also sets the other unbeaten Big Ten co-leaders, Purdue's Boilermakers (4-0), against invading Ohio State (1-2).

Other conference contests have defending champion Minnesota (1-2) trying to recoup from a stumbling start against visiting Michigan State (2-3) and Wisconsin (1-4) at Northwestern (0-3) in a regionally televised matinee.

In non-league play, Illinois (2-1) faces South Carolina in a Chicago Stadium twin bill which includes Marquette vs. Loyola, and Iowa (1-4) invades North Carolina.

Indiana's freshman-sparked Hoosiers have swept to conference victories over Wisconsin, Ohio State, Minnesota and Michigan State.

Don Johnson Takes Lead In Bowling

DENVER (AP) — Don Johnson, Akron, Ohio, and Nelson Burton, St. Louis, Mo., the two hottest bowlers on the tour last year, were running 1-2 today after Thursday's action in the $50,000 Denver Open Bowling Tournament.

Johnson, who led the 18-game qualifier, which ended earlier Thursday, with a 220 average, took four of eight tilts as the format turned to match play with only the high 24 rollers in contention.

When he spilled 1,831 pins on games of 231, 232, 236, 236, 203, 263, 205 and 255, the 32-year-old righthander clung to his lead.

Burton, who, like Johnson, took three titles in 1972, climbed from seventh to the runnerup spot, only 23 behind the leader, when he dropped only two of his games. Burton had linescores of 222, 224, 258, 234, 236, 235, 226 and 204 to show a pinfall of 1,838, best of the evening session.

With two more eight-game sets on tap Friday before the field is trimmed once again, this time to the five finalists for Saturday's nationally televised windup, Burton was 54 in front of Gus Lampo, Endicott, N.Y., who shoved down 1,821 while winning four and tying one of his matches.

Rounding out the top five, all within shooting distance of Johnson, who has been second in three previous events this year, were Palmer Fallgren, Sacramento, Calif., and Barry Asher, Costa Mesa, Calif.

Jim Godman of Lorain, Ohio was sixth. Other Ohioans in the top 20 were Tom Hudson of Akron, 18th, and Roy Buckley of Columbus, 20th.

Weger, Blackledge Faces BGSU Induction

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Detroit Lions defensive back Mike Weger and University of Kentucky assistant football coach Ron Blackledge will be officially inducted into Bowling Green State University's Athletic Hall of Fame Saturday during halftime ceremonies of Bowling Green's nationally televised basketball game with Ohio University.

Weger was named Bowling Green's first major college All-American football player in 1965. He also gained honors in track, winning three letters as a hurdler and long jumper. He has been a five-year regular and defensive halfback for the Lions.

Only Winner In Philadelphia Guy Who Moves

Editors Note: Ralph Bernstein has been reporting on sports in Philadelphia for almost 30 years. That's longer than anybody lasted in the City of Losers since Connie Mack, but the strain is beginning to tell.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Confessions of a losing sports writer: Joe Frazier was the last straw for my town. Philadelphia the city of losers, has nothing. The only winner in town is the guy who moves.

Writers covering the Philadelphia sports beat hold the National Collegiate Athletic Association, National Football League, National Basketball Association and National League records for covering losers. My fingers freeze at the typewriter when the home team wins. The only thing the City of Brotherly Love leads in is firings.

The Philadelphia Phillies last won a pennant in 1950 ... the Eagles in 1960 ... the 76ers in 1967, and then they traded and bungled their way to becoming the laughing stock of pro basketball ... the Flyers have never won a title, and were bounced in the first round the two times they stumbled into the playoffs ... the Blazers are new, but in the Philadelphia tradition—last.

The town even blew the bicentennial celebrations for 1976, and the country was born here.

Everywhere you travel, sports fans make jokes about Philadelphia sports teams: "The 76ers played the Milwaukee Bucks and all the Bucks fouled out in the first quarter. Philadelphia won in two overtimes."

The one thing we had was Frazier, the heavyweight champion of the world. He was the city's pride and joy. Then it happened, Smokin' Joe had his flame extinguished by George Foreman. Each of those six times Joe went down, the statue of William Penn atop City Hall shuddered and groaned. Move over Phillies, 76ers, Eagles, Blazers. The city has another sports casualty.

The problem in this corner is that the losing syndrome appears to have rubbed off on my private life.

For example, my youngest son is the star of his junior high school basketball team. It hasn't won a game. He's barred the proud father from even being a spectator.

This ruboff even has affected my writing: —Book on former pitcher Bobby Shantz. He broke his wrist, never had another good season.

—The Phillies of 1964 led the pennant race by 6½ games with 12 left. I signed to write a book on ace pitcher Jim Bunning. Team lost next 10 and blew the flag.

—Co-authored a book with college basketball coaching great Ken Loeffler. He left a national champion to coach at Texas A&M, developed ulcers, had his stomach removed, quit coaching.

—Suggested an article to Curt Simmons. Next day he sliced off a toe with his power mower.

—Suggested a book to Robin Roberts. He never had another winning season.

—Wrote an article on Eagles coach Jerry Williams. He was fired a week later.

—Wrote an article on Phillies' pitcher Rick Wise. He was traded before it hit the street.

It's been a strange life, covering the Philadelphia sports beat. Last summer, I covered two Phillies' games in which I didn't see the winning run scored. As a matter of fact, in true Philadelphia tradition, none of the men covering the game knew how it was won. In the first game, Phillie owner Bob Carpenter called a news conference in the top of the 10th inning to announce he'd fired general manager John Quinn. The winning run scored while the reporters were in Carpenter's office. The next day, new general manager Paul Owens held a press conference that started the same time as the game. Yep, the only run was scored in the top of the first inning. None of us saw it.

That's the way it goes in the Philadelphia press boxes. There is a saying among the boys— "Only in Philadelphia."

The past 10 days have produced a succession of typical Philadelphia stories. Derek Sanderson was given $1 million to leave town by the Blazers of the WHA ... The Phillies handed Steve Carlton $165,000 to remain ... Roy Rubin got fired because he couldn't make the worst team in pro basketball a winner ... They gave Kevin Loughery, a guy who has never coached a minute in his life a 2½-year contract to guide the 76ers ... Owner Leonard Tose, a trucking magnate made himself general manager without portfolio, of the Eagles and hired Mike McCormack as coach ... And the losing goes on ...

WHY DO PEOPLE COMMIT SIN?

This is not a trifling question, for sin is no trifle. It is the one thing which has brought trouble to every person on earth — his own sin, or the sins of others. It is the breaker of hearts, homes, and the destroyer of nations. It is the sponsor of death, disease, drunkenness, despair, hatred, pain, poverty, shame, sorrow, suffering, wars, and wickedness. No disease so destructive, filthy, and shameful, sinner friend, never boast about your sinfulness, for sin of every nature is a disgrace, and stinks to the heights of heaven. Men would like to be finished with poverty, suffering, and war, yet want to hang on to their vile sins — the very source of all that is vile. Men foolishly accept it as an essential part of humanity. This is false and far from truth. Sin is an alien, an outlandish intruder, thief and robber — offspring of Satan himself. We do not have to sin. Men and women sin because they want to, and they want to because of their perverted natures. They know the wrong — sometimes — yet the wrong pursue. In their sincere moments men abhor sin and seek riddance from it by change of environment, new resolutions, or turning over a new leaf. Sin is always cancerous, and no cancer can be destroyed by such trifles. Some join the church, take baptism, and the communion, yet keep their disease. There is no natural remedy suited for sin, and absolutely no cure apart from a personal surrender to, and faith in the Lord Jesus Christ (See Acts 4:12, 16:31; 3:26; 5:31; Rom. 1:16; Titus 2:14; 3:5, 6; Rev. 1:5; 5:9). Christ came to forgive us, cleanse us, empower us with His Spirit, and guide us into a life of fullness and fruitfulness if we are prepared to quit sin, the old crowd, and surrender to Him. Let this be now, or it might be never.

Roy Rubin got fired because he couldn't make the worst team in pro basketball a winner ... They gave Kevin Loughery, a guy who has never coached a minute in his life a 2½-year contract to guide the 76ers ... Owner Leonard Tose, a trucking magnate made himself general manager without portfolio, of the Eagles and hired Mike McCormack as coach ... And the losing goes on ...

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A wonderful day to reach out and obtain whatever information or data that you want. Also, an excellent time to talk with those most concerned about a new plan that can be put in operation and be successful for a long time to come. You can enjoy those things today that you deeply value.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Once your duties are behind you, this day is fine for the romantic side of life. Find out what your true position is with debtors and creditors. Be helpful to one who has been good to you.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make better arrangements with those you consider to be your associates and the future becomes brighter for all. Any civic work you want to do now can be done well. Show that you have fine ability.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have a new method you want to put in operation that will make routine work easier and more precise. Put it to the test today. Find the right apparel that will bring out your true charm.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Engage in the recreations that you enjoy the most and be relieved from worry. Showing more affection to mate brings more happiness into your life. Clear up any misunderstanding you have had.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get busy doing those things at home that make for a more harmonious relationship there. Make the home glisten and add comforts that you enjoy. Evening is fine for entertaining in a charming way.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Ideal day to get together with those who can assist you to have more success in business and in personal relationships. Complete shopping you started earlier in the week. Engage in hobby tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Become interested in monetary matters for which you have little time during the busy work week and plan how to have added income. Consult with an adviser and follow ideas with precision.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan early what it is you want to do, then carry on determinedly and accomplish a great deal. Dress well before attending a special party. Show that you are an excellent conversationalist.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can handle a civic task very well today. You have little time for such during busy work week. Philanthropic work also goes well now. Take it easy tonight or attend a charming party.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have fascinating friends you can contact who are difficult for you to see except on weekends. A little social whirl can bring fine benefits. Make contact with those who can be helpful to you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A good day for getting together with influential people whose ideas coincide with yours. Engage in civic work you like and show your fine ability. Show that you are a fine citizen.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have had fine ideas running through your mind for several days and can now put the best in operation with excellent success following. Plan an important trip. Count the cost well.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those charming young people who must be taught to work early in life, otherwise your progeny could lose out on the fine potentials there are in this chart. There's a tendency to want to spoil your youngster which may result in very little progress. The field of investigation is fine here since there is depth of thinking as well as much courage here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Jerry and Dot Spangler called his mother Sunday from Tifton, Ga., and enroute to Florida. He said sales had been unusually good last week.

Mrs. Mary Judy, Springfield, was the Wednesday overnight guest of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Pearce

Mary and Pauline shopped in Logan on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl McCabe and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Amspaugh of Duncan Falls on Sunday.

Ruth Hunt, Lucia Spangler, Violet Rhymer and Ella Mae Jenkins attended the Paul Dixon Show at Veteran's Memorial, Columbus, on Friday.

We wish a belated happy birthday to Mrs. James Boyer, who observed her ninety-seventh birthday on Saturday and to her daughter, Mrs. Wayne (Lola) Dresbach, who also observed her birthday on Saturday.

Mrs. Boyer is a patient at Crites Rest Home in Stoutsville.

Congratulations to Roger and Diana Clarke who are parents of a baby boy, born on Tuesday at Riverside Hospital, Columbus. The new baby has a brother and sister, Kevin and Kim.

Samuel and Steve Hedges, Washington C. H. were Monday luncheon guests of Mrs. Genevieve Hedges.

Pearl Graham was admitted as a medical patient at Berger Hospital on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thad Carper are parents of a baby girl, born on Tuesday, at Berger Hospital. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hartranft and great-grandmother, Mrs. Hazel Hartranft.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Pearce attended the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Rhymer at Amanda on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kreider, Chillicothe, were Sunday supper guests of Mrs. Albert Spangler.

Mrs. Pauline Pearce and Mrs. Viola Hartranft were among the Senior Citizens Group who sang at the Home and Hospital, Mound St., Circleville on Wednesday.

2 Americans Are Freed In Haiti

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The three Haitians who held U.S. Ambassador Clinton E. Knox at gunpoint until they and 12 political prisoners were promised escape to Mexico said they had nothing against Knox personally.

Arriving Wednesday night in Mexico City, the woman and two men said the 64-year-old diplomat seemed an important person whose capture was most likely to force Haitian President Jean-Claude Duvalier to meet their demands.

Duvalier, to secure the release of Knox and U.S. Consul General Ward Christianson, freed 12 political prisoners, flew all 15 to Mexico aboard an Air Haiti plane and paid them $70,000 in ransom.

The Mexican government agreed to admit the Haitians, and Foreign Minister Emilio O. Rabasa said their status would be decided after they were questioned today. But Jorge Salomon, the Haitian ambassador, said he was instructed to seek their extradition.

None of the eight men and four women released from Haitian cells or the three who seized Knox would talk much about the incident or their life in Haiti.

"We don't want to discuss political things that could compromise us," said Raymond Napoleon, who appeared to be the leader of the group. But he denied that they were part of an organized movement.

Price Of Milk Likely To Rise

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The price of milk is going up for Ohio housewives as the result of this season's crop losses among Ohio farmers.

Central Ohio Co-Operative Milk Producers, Inc., and Great Lakes-Southern Milk federation announced a 30 cent increase per hundred weight of raw milk.

Donald E. Zehr, general manager of the cooperative, attributed the increase to rises in dairy farm costs, especially feed prices in the wake of weather-damaged hay crops.

Cooper Earnings Up

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—Preliminary figures released Wednesday by Wayne Brewer, president and chairman of the board of the Cooper Tire and Rubber Co. show Cooper will report a new high in net income on record sales for 1972.

Misjudgement Pushed LBJ To Presidency

The THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The United States Senate is a closed society. Its actions can affect the future of the world. But within it, a man can rise to the heights of power or fall on his face—and the world beyond may neither know nor care.

Lyndon Baines Johnson made the Senate so strong, and was himself so strong within it, that he ultimately mistook Senate power for national power. It was a strange misjudgment for one so conversant with the vagaries of politics; it perhaps cost him the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination.

But in the long history of the Senate, Lyndon Johnson's eight years of accomplishment and mastery as leader of its Democrats may well be unsurpassed. At times it seemed that Johnson was the Senate and the Senate was Johnson.

With Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower, a man who disliked politics, in the White House, and with the opposition Democratic party in control of Congress for six of the eight Eisenhower years, Johnson was viewed by many as the most formidable political being in Washington.

He savored the role and played it to the hilt.

Richard B. Russell of Georgia—venerated among senators, and one of the several "daddys" Johnson cultivated over the decades—said of the Texas senator:

"He doesn't have the best mind on the Democratic side of the Senate; he isn't the best orator; he isn't the best parliamentarian. But he's the best combination of all those qualities."

By the time Johnson came to power in the early 1950s, he had carefully studied every nook and cranny of the ponderous Senate establishment.

"Perched near the pinnacle of party leadership," wrote political biographers Robert Novak and Rowland Evans in their book "Lyndon B. Johnson: The Exercise of Power," "Johnson had a plan fixed in his mind of what he wanted to do ... Johnson had long since decided that the Senate could be mobilized and shaped, depending on the quality of its leaders."

The Democratic leader's aim was to stamp his personality on the Senate majority. A born trader, intimately familiar with the ways of his then-95 colleagues, Johnson was cut out for the job.

For most of his stint as Senate Democratic chieftain, Johnson had it in his power to thwart the policies of the Republican who occupied the White House. He seldom exercised it—indeed, often drew the criticism of more partisan Democrats for cooperating with the former war hero.

Eisenhower's national mandate at the polls was clear enough. It did not take an especially astute politician to spot the risk inherent in going down the line against him.

Johnson stayed close to the Senate day and night. With the assistance of a sharp-eyed, quick-witted former page from Pickens, S.C., Johnson developed an intelligence system that enabled him to forecast Senate votes with stunning accuracy.

"You're like a son to me," the father of Linda Bird and Luci Baines told Bobby Baker, "because I don't have a son of my own." Baker was not only a son but a third arm to the majority leader, swapping information with other senators, advising them how to vote, keeping head counts for Johnson, adding constantly to the leader's intelligence storehouse.

Johnson gave early signs of the manner in which he would operate as floor leader. In the Senate agonizing over the activities of Wisconsin's Communist hunting Joseph R. McCarthy, he withheld his own vote until the last moment, carefully selected the Democratic members of the select committee that investigated McCarthy's activities and shrewdly allowed the Republicans to wrestle with themselves in public over the touchy issue.

In the end, Johnson pulled off a solid Democratic vote to censure the Wisconsin Republican, voting for censure himself and assailing McCarthy for his remarks about other senators—while carefully avoiding the issue of Communists in government.

That was to be the way for the next six years: the concealed hand, the computerlike counting of votes, the compromise proposal designed to win reluctant senators, the swapping of dams and power projects for votes. The final Senate roll call would sometimes be a triumphant landslide, sometimes a dramatic, headline-grabbing, one-vote margin.

Johnson was riding high that steamy July day in 1955 when he called a leisurely Saturday morning news conference to recite the accomplishments of the Congress—in the face of some criticism that it hadn't done much.

Then, as later, Johnson was so sensitive to even the most implied and subtle criticism. And when Associated Press reporter John Chadwick asked one probing question too many about the LBJ legislative record, LBJ exploded in anger and invective and the press conference fell apart.

A few hours later he suffered a massive heart attack.

In the hospital, and at the LBJ Ranch on the Pedernales, Johnson recovered fully, and soon was back in the Senate, shrewdly using his power over committee assignments, keeping tab on which senator's wife was eager for a foreign junket, who needed a dam for his state and who needed funds from the Senate Democratic Campaign Committee.

In this way he carefully controlled the pace of Senate sessions, instituted night and around-the-clock sessions to wear down recalcitrant senators, and generally remade the debating-society image of the ponderous legislative body.

The Senate wasn't the only thing that changed. The legislator who had voted against every civil rights measure in his career began changing his ways in 1957. Shedding some of his image as a regional, Southern senator, Johnson courted the liberals, and deftly pushed through the Senate the first antecedent of the civil rights laws that would place him in the history books in the 1960s.

For a Democrat, Johnson also was perhaps the best congressional friend Eisenhower had. He avoided personal attacks on the popular President, indeed, he appointed himself as the protector of the President from the Republican right.

He portrayed the President's party as the war party eager to rattle sabers in the Formosa Strait and the Middle East, and the spendthrift party, afraid to cut its president's budget.

He rebelled on occasion. During the 1958 Middle East crisis, he was sharply critical of Eisenhower's decision to send U.S. Marines into Lebanon. And Johnson's courting of Democratic liberals led him to help defeat Eisenhower's nomination of Lewis L. Strauss, a conservative Republican, to be secretary of Commerce.

By 1959 Johnson, like many other prominent Democrats, was anticipating the party contest for the 1960 presidential nomination. But while the young Massachusetts senator, John F. Kennedy, had been campaigning for the job virtually since 1956, the Senate majority leader remained close-mouthed and indecisive about whether and how to go for the top prize. When he finally gave his answer a few days before the 1960 convention, it was too late.

"Applied for the first time across the wide range of national politics," wrote columnists Evans and Novak, "the tightly controlled system that gave Johnson his unique mastery over the Senate broke down completely."

Johnson believed that the base of national power in the states lay in the Senate. He was wrong. It lay in the precincts, the minority groups, the city halls, the unions, and in the delegates who would eventually choose the nominee. These men and women couldn't care less about Lyndon Johnson's legislative magic, and when the roll was called at the Democratic convention, Wyoming put John F. Kennedy over the top.

In one of the most intriguing and confusing days in American political annals—a day still not fully understood by historians, participants or anyone else—Kennedy chose Lyndon Johnson to be his vice presidential running mate.

Johnson's friends were stunned when he accepted—as, perhaps, John Kennedy was. Johnson himself was hurt because at the last moment, Robert F. Kennedy appeared to some to be trying to sabotage the selection. The bitterness of this moment would last a long time.

Why Johnson gave up the position of power he had so carefully constructed in the Senate for a position of relative impotence is still being debated. There are those who believe Johnson wanted the vice presidency to free himself from regional ties and become a national figure—and that he really had his mind on the vice presidency when he announced for president.

Whatever the explanation, it is generally conceded that Johnson's strength in the South won the presidency for John F. Kennedy in a narrow victory over Richard M. Nixon.

For the next three years, Johnson chafed in the No. 2 office, absorbed what some considered slights from the urbane, Eastern New Frontiersmen, ignored their calling him "Uncle Cornpone" behind his back, remained loyal to President Kennedy, and watched while the administration—without utilizing Johnson's encyclopedic knowledge of Congress—fumbled away its legislative program.

He traveled abroad, presided over the space program, and generally managed to maintain his dignity and his reputation in the most trying circumstances.

In 1963, he went home to Texas to help prepare the way for a Kennedy visit aimed at healing the party's open wounds in that fractious political state. The President joined Johnson in Fort Worth. The day was Nov. 21, 1963.

Johnson had one more day to serve as vice president.

2 Americans Are Freed In Haiti

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The three Haitians who held U.S. Ambassador Clinton E. Knox at gunpoint until they and 12 political prisoners were promised escape to Mexico said they had nothing against Knox personally. Arriving Wednesday night in Mexico City, the woman and two men said the 64-year-old diplomat seemed an important person whose capture was most likely to force Haitian President Jean-Claude Duvalier to meet their demands.

Duvalier, to secure the release of Knox and U.S. Consul General Ward Christianson, freed 12 political prisoners, flew all 15 to Mexico aboard an Air Haiti plane and paid them $70,000 in ransom.

The Mexican government agreed to admit the Haitians, and Foreign Minister Emilio O. Rabasa said their status would be decided after they were questioned today. But Jorge Salomon, the Haitian ambassador, said he was instructed to seek their extradition.

None of the eight men and four women released from Haitian cells or the three who seized Knox would talk much about the incident or their life in Haiti.

"We don't want to discuss political things that could compromise us," said Raymond Napoleon, who appeared to be the leader of the group. But he denied that they were part of an organized movement.

Price Of Milk Likely To Rise

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The price of milk is going up for Ohio housewives as the result of this season's crop losses among Ohio farmers.

Central Ohio Co-Operative Milk Producers, Inc., and Great Lakes-Southern Milk federation announced a 30 cent increase per hundred weight of raw milk.

Donald E. Zehr, general manager of the cooperative, attributed the increase to rises in dairy farm costs, especially feed prices in the wake of weather-damaged hay crops.

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—Preliminary figures released Wednesday by Wayne Brewer, president and chairman of the board of the Cooper Tire and Rubber Co. show Cooper will report a new high in net income on record sales for 1972.

Misjudgement Pushed LBJ To Presidency

The THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The United States Senate is a closed society. Its actions can affect the future of the world. But within it, a man can rise to the heights of power or fall on his face—and the world beyond may neither know nor care.

Lyndon Baines Johnson made the Senate so strong, and was himself so strong within it, that he ultimately mistook Senate power for national power. It was a strange misjudgment for one so conversant with the vagaries of politics; it perhaps cost him the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination.

But in the long history of the Senate, Lyndon Johnson's eight years of accomplishment and mastery as leader of its Democrats may well be unsurpassed. At times it seemed that Johnson was the Senate and the Senate was Johnson.

With Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower, a man who disliked politics, in the White House, and with the opposition Democratic party in control of Congress for six of the eight Eisenhower years, Johnson was viewed by many as the most formidable political being in Washington.

He savored the role and played it to the hilt.

Richard B. Russell of Georgia—venerated among senators, and one of the several "daddys" Johnson cultivated over the decades—said of the Texas senator:

"He doesn't have the best mind on the Democratic side of the Senate; he isn't the best orator; he isn't the best parliamentarian. But he's the best combination of all those qualities."
